HUERTA ISSUES AN EDICT ON TAXATION

Stamp Tax Doubled and In-

Alcohol and Petroleum

ONE AND TWO-PESO BILLS TO BE ISSUED

Mexico City, Nov. 20.—One of the last acts of Provisional President Huerta as dictator before the new congress places a restriction on his powers was an edict to-day making a sweeping increase in the internal taxes of Mexico.

The stamp tax, which requires a revenue stamp on cheques, receipts, contracts and all documents of a public nature, was doubled. The tax on tobacco, alcohol and crude petroleum was heavily increased.

As a measure to relieve the difficult small money problem arising out of the restriction of silver circulation, President Huerta to-day issued a decree permitting banks of issue to put out one and two-peso bills. The smallest bill hitherto in circulation has been five pesos.

COL. PRIOR TELLS EAST- OF PROGRESS IN WEST

Party From Capital Reaches Montreal
En Route for Great Britain.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 20.—Lieut.-Col. E. G. Prior, Mrs. Prior, their daughter and Miss Tupper, daughter of Sir Charles Hilbert Tupper, arrived yesterday from Victoria, and after a brief sojourn here the party will sail for Great Britain. Col. Prior said that it was fashionable in certain quarters to speak of Vancouver as a "backwater" community on the coast, but there is a great revival in the capital of the province, and whereas in former days the Vancouver business men opened branches in Victoria, it is now the rule for Victoria people to open branches in Vancouver.

The real estate boom has received, he says, a black eye, and he thinks that no harm was done the general business community when the banks called a halt. Business generally, however, he says, is sound in British Columbia, although somewhat quiet just now. The railways, he says, are spending so much money on their respective lines, and with a very large expenditure also going on by the provincial government the province cannot be held back.

He said they expected to derive a great deal of good from the opening of the Panama canal and the western ports are being equipped in consequence.

STAR OF HOPE WILL SHINE IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 20.—As the forerunner of a big municipal Christmas tree which will be erected in Madison Square Garden during the Yuletide, a "star of hope" will be lighted there to-night to twinkle regularly until Christmas. The star composed of a large number of incandescent lamps, is on top of a plain iron shaft about 35 feet high. It was recently announced that the idea was backed by a group of idealists, who seek to anchor idealism in New York. The mystery of their identity has not been solved.

FRUIT RANCHER ROBBED BY FRIENDS AND IS THROWN FROM TRAIN WHEN HOMEBOUND

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 20.—Much of the mystery which has attended the case of the young Californian thrown from a train near here two weeks ago, was cleared up to-day when the young man, through his lawyers, said that his name was George H. Kellogg, that he was married and proprietor of a fruit ranch in San Diego county, California, near the town of Coronado.

Kellogg said that he was robbed and thrown from the train by two men and a woman with whom he became friendly several weeks ago at Coronado. "I introduced them to my wife, relatives Kellogg," but she said that her intuitions warned her against them. When they invited me to visit them in Chicago, I did not give the true reason for my trip to my wife. We saw the sights in Chicago and started back

REVIEWS EVENTS SINCE OCTOBER TENTH ACCOUNT OF ACTIONS TO COME LATER

Message to Be Read To-night Does Not Contain Reference to International Matters but Puts Dictator Forward as Saving the Nation

Mexico City, Nov. 20.—The full text of General Huerta's message to the Mexican congress, which he will read in person at 6 p. m. to-day, is as follows:

"In accordance with the constitutional provisions relative to the matter it is the duty of the chief executive to inform the congress of the nation twice every year of the status of public affairs, the reports corresponding to the solemn opening of the regular sessions of your duties.

"This provision having been complied with by means of the extensive reports I read in this chamber on September 12 last, and as it happened at the time that the first of April was far ahead, at which time the government should once more bring to your attention the status of the national situation, it can now be understood that this brief message cannot be so extensive as the other documents, but that it should be limited to giving you an account of the political events which have taken place since October 10 last, to this significant date, in which, by virtue of the solemn promise I have made before the nation and the world, the country is resuming its course and the straight and inflexible provisions of the fundamental charter of the republic, and this, within such a peremptory time necessarily sets in relief before the persons not actuated by passion, the indisputable good faith and the unexcelled good will with which the government of the nation has been making efforts to restate the supremacy of peace and the law in the midst of conditions which, without false modesty, are of the character sufficient to discourage the strongest decision if such is not supported by a great faith in the law, in justice and in the welfare of the country.

"The embodiment of our political structure having as a basis a perfect equilibrium between the three powers by means of which the people exercise its sovereignty, it can be easily understood to what extent of difficulty we could be dragged by the least interruption or alteration of this equilibrium. The framers of the constitution, understanding this to be the case, marked for each power the province of the proper and legitimate action in order that by remaining invariably between the lines marked for each of them, perfect harmony of the whole would be preserved.

"The very moment that any of the three powers should go beyond the boundaries limiting their activities, the province of action of others would necessarily be invaded, the equilibrium would be deeply disturbed and constitutional functions would be altered, thus menacing the life itself of the political states, and unless the trespassing power be brought without delay to its exclusive province of action, it provokes from the other powers a defensive action, the vigor of which is and must be proportionate to the gravity or frequency of the infractions—a reaction which becomes necessary and salutary because without it the constitutional organization would definitely disappear. This situation, the gravity of which cannot escape the wisdom of the representatives I am addressing, appeared before the country and the government under my direction since the last days of September, and its character was so intense and alarming from the beginning that the course of events could easily be forecasted.

"I refer to the attitude which is perhaps fresh in the memory of all Mexicans, principally of the house of representatives, which, in front of the other two powers, but preferably against the executive whose action, so urgently and decisively needed at this moment, the aforesaid assembly endeavored to prevent and defraud, systematically, thus being seeking to disavow its anti-patriotic purposes, notwithstanding that to embarrass the action of the executive meant to place in danger the life of the country itself.

"The executive was not lacking in the foresight mentioned above, but rather understanding at once the results of the rule of action adopted by the House, all care was taken to avoid conflicts and to preserve a perfect cooperation with the legislative power, without which all the efforts of the government would be impracticable.

"The executive relinquished its rights and prerogatives on more than one occasion and employed repeatedly tentative efforts to obtain closer relations between the two powers, which every day became more difficult.

"The House, on account of the assemblage of certain elements, became a focus of insurrection, a debased agency of the rebels, who in our northern frontier, have devoted their efforts to slaughter and pillage, and which is still to be regretted, to the work of bleeding their fatherland, so that when it may be debilitated and impoverished it should submit to the dangers from abroad and without restriction.

"The house endeavored to prevent every effort of the government. It aggressively invaded not only the province of the judicial power, but its executive, in order to direct the infamous purposes of the rebels. Having come to this extreme, the government, under my direction, had to face this painful dilemma, the decision of which could not be held any further to consent in the preservation of the house as an assembly of demagogues, so that it would end by strangling the other two powers, dragging the country to the chaos of a bloody anarchy in which our nationality inevitably would have quickly perished, or to take a legal action of defence and public health, waiting for a brief time so-called popular representation, and appealing to the people to come before the polls in order that they might express their ultimate and sovereign desire.

"It being impossible to hesitate before such a situation, the executive adopted the extreme measure and dissolved congress, employing for this purpose just the necessary amount of energy to face so delicate a condition, and convinced the people to new elections, wherefrom your inventiveness, messes representatives, proceeds, the executive has not the slightest doubt that before a serene, criterion, constitutional order was not interrupted when congress was dissolved, but at the precise moment in which a series of infractions against the province of action of the other two powers began. Even if such was not the case, though it is, it shall always appear as a high and noble motive preferable under any circumstances to save nations, even though principles may suffer, and not to maintain intact at the expense of the life of the country, provisions of a rigid and inanimate character whose justice and usefulness may yet be the subject of discussion because in the fine words of the great Bonaparte that the law is not violated when the country is saved, shall always be true.

"Congress, having been dissolved, and in the absence of this important organ of the government, from that date until the assembling of the new chambers it became necessary to decree extraordinary powers. Under similar circumstances the great Benito Juarez long governed under the regime of extraordinary powers. Therefore, it does not seem excessive that my government may have resorted to them in view of the lack of the legislative power, but the national representation will not fail to observe how moderate has been action of the executive in not decreeing nor exercising them except with reference to three branches of the administration, hacienda, gubernacion and what that is to say, in those branches in which its action was absolutely indispensable.

"This would seem a propitious moment to give you an account of the use made of the above powers, but inasmuch as it is the purpose of this congress to pass on them, I shall in due time and under separate distribution give you an itemized account of the use made of them by the executive, to the end that if you find his action useful, honest and patriotic you should afford him your supreme sanction, and in case that you are of the responsible opinion, you should say the responsibility on who may deserve them, with the assurance that the chief executive as well as his secretaries, shall make no effort to evade them, as they all have accepted their respective posts during difficult days over the country, and have beforehand accepted even

KING GEORGE SENDS HIS CONGRATULATIONS

Sir Wilfrid Receives Many Messages on His Seventy-
Second Birthday

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is to-day quietly celebrating his 72nd birthday at his home and at his office in the House of Commons building. The ex-premier received messages of congratulation from his Majesty the King and his representative in Canada, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, from Premier Asquith, Lloyd George, Bonar Law, Lord Strathcona, Earl Grey and numerous other prominent men in Great Britain.

Overseas cable messages were this morning received from Senator the Hon. G. W. Pearce, ex-minister of state for defence, and ex-Premier Fisher, of Australia, while Premier Massey, of New Zealand, cabled his good wishes at noon.

Among the rank and file in both parties the desire to express good wishes is quite evident. From the Yukon Dr. Thompson, M. P., has wired his good wishes. The Liberal chief's lieutenants have all expressed sympathy and loyalty while messages were received from many members of parliament who sit both to the right and left of the speaker.

BURNED TO DEATH WHEN LAMP EXPLODES

Rancher's Wife Dies After Terrible
Anguish at Her Home Near Mount Vernon.

Mount Vernon, Wash., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Eugene Hatch, of Mount Vernon, who lives on the George Hanson ranch, about two miles from here, died yesterday as the result of injuries sustained from a kerosene lamp explosion. As Mrs. Hatch was removing the lamp from a shelf in the kitchen the blaze ran down into the oil and caused an explosion. Her dress became ignited and the frantic woman ran into the yard. The screams of her children, aged 4 and 2, attracted the attention of her husband and two hired men who were in the barn several rods away. They saw what appeared to be a veritable mass of shooting flames and were horrified on rushing to the scene to behold a human being in terrible anguish. Mrs. Hatch possessed all of her faculties up to the time of her fall, and she died after a few hours' suffering. Surviving are a husband and two babies.

GREAT STORM DID DAMAGE TO TIMBER

Thessalon, Ont., Nov. 20.—Woodmen and hunters now coming out of the timber country in and adjacent to the Mississauga forest reserve, report that a vast amount of damage has been done by the recent great storm to the standing timber. All who have been in the back townships say that the damage done is tremendous. One man estimates the amount of fallen timber at no less than 50 per cent. One lumberman reports that 70 per cent of his particular limit is now down.

"The present moment is extremely solemn, and perhaps decisive for the welfare of the nation. Not only the eyes of fifteen million Mexicans, but those of the whole civilized world are at this time fixed on us. Your attitude and your action shall inform our fellow citizens and future generations whether we have been right in clinging to our nationality, in placing national dignity above all base interests, or if, on the contrary, instead of that attitude of intense national feeling, we should have ceded before reprovable interests and unworthy ambitions.

"In styling you in the name of the republic the most cordial welcome, I pray for the prompt arrival of the hour in which all Mexicans may be united in close fraternity, so that we may devote our decided energies to the great and fruitful task of reconstructing our nation."

TUBERCULOSIS THEIR GREATEST ENEMY NOW

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The red man of Canada shows no signs of following his American brother to the happy hunting grounds of their forefathers westward in the land of the setting sun. In other words, the Indians of Canada are increasing in population, and are becoming more industrious, intelligent, moral, self-reliant and self-respecting citizens throughout the land which their forefathers originally owned.

This is the outstanding feature of the report of the department of Indian affairs issued to-day. The Indian population of Canada is given as 106,490, as against 104,950 at the end of the last fiscal year. There were decreases in some of the tribes, but these were mostly caused by the Indians moving from one province to another. Quebec shows a gain; its present Indian population being 12,842, an increase of 25 per cent. for the year.

As has been experienced for many years past, tuberculosis continues to be the most formidable of all the maladies from which the Indian race suffers. The department is doing everything in its power to educate them to the importance of observing the vital laws of hygiene, and by teaching them the value of good housing conditions, is doing much to reduce the number of tuberculosis cases among them.

A serious feature of the report is that the death rate among the various tribes is extraordinarily heavy when they live in close proximity to big towns. The Indian agent reports that the advent of the moving pictures has had considerable to do with increasing the mortality rate of the race.

He points out that Indians will travel miles to the cities in the evening to see the pictures, often in inclement weather, and recounts numerous deaths which he traced to their having returned home late to damp and unsanitary houses, where conditions were not conducive to health. In almost every case it is found that the death rate is greater and the moral standard lower when the tribe has easy access to a city.

The Indian is rapidly becoming better educated. At present there are 249 day, 59 boarding and 19 industrial schools in operation, a total of 426 of all classes. The Indian, according to the reports losing the love for "firewater." The government, however, and its agents have been very active in their desire to suppress the illegal traffic in intoxicants, and during the past year the fines collected aggregated approximately over $2,000 more than those collected the previous year. Crime and immorality during the year was very light and there was not a single vicious criminal case reported to the department. The birth rate during the year averaged about 35 per thousand, while the mortality rate was about 28 per thousand.

MONTREAL CITY LOAN IS OVER-SUBSCRIBED

London, Nov. 20.—The Bank of Montreal states that the new Montreal city loan has been over subscribed ahead of time. The loan is now quoted at one-half to one per cent premium. Applications have been made to the stock exchange for a special settling day and quotation for the city of Vancouver 4 1/2 per cent, and to allow the city of Edmonton 5 per cent an official list quotation.

Many holders of Canadian investment avoid paying the English income tax by having the dividends payable in Canada. The development of this idea is announced by Butters & Salvador Mines, who propose registering the concern as a Canadian company. Big dividends hitherto have been paid and shareholders not residing here have objected to paying an income tax on the whole of the profits. The courts of appeal a few months ago held that insurance companies' investments outside Great Britain were liable to income tax.

HAMILTON IS LIBERAL CANDIDATE IN ISLANDS

Convention Held Yesterday Afternoon at Ganges Unanimous in Choosing Prominent Liberal Resident for Provincial Constituency; H. C. Brewster Gives Facts and Figures on Land and Farming in British Columbia

In strong contrast to the gathering held in the same place a week earlier, the nominating convention of the Liberals of the Islands constituency yesterday was unanimous in its decision, and its selection of Alexander Hamilton, of Pender Island, was felt to be but the first step in his election to represent the farming community which makes up the population of the islands.

The convention was held in the Mahon Memorial hall at Ganges Harbor, and was attended by delegates from Sidney and from all the islands—Salt Spring, Pender, Mayne, Galiano, Gabriola, Moreby and Saturna. The delegates elected Mr. Curfin, Salt Spring Island, as chairman of the convention, and W. M. Munst, Ganges Harbor, secretary of the Island District Liberal Association, acted as secretary. There was no other nomination than that of Mr. Hamilton, and it was received with cheers by the delegates. At the close of the convention a spontaneous subscription was taken, and almost enough to meet the election expenses was handed to the secretary.

After the credentials committee had reported and the convention was duly organized, the first business taken up was the question of the propriety of putting a candidate in the field. This was discussed by several speakers, the feeling being that the party should not allow the election to go uncontested by a Liberal candidate, as it was the right of the party to secure a discussion of public issues at such a time through the medium of meetings held in its support.

In this connection the secretary read a telephone message he had received purporting to come from a few Liberals at Sidney, and further purporting to express the view of the whole of those of that political faith in North Saanich that there should not be a contest at this time. There were thirteen names given over the telephone as being the signatories to this document, but one of these was a delegate to the convention and indignantly repudiated the use of his name. The delegates took the stand that if any section of the constituency had any views to express the proper place to express them was one the floor of the convention hall, when their reasons, if any, could be heard and discussed. The communication was tabled, and a resolution that a candidate be named was carried with enthusiasm and without one dissenting voice.

A. H. Menzies, Pender Island, nominated Alexander Hamilton in a few words, expressing the confidence the farmers of the islands felt in him, and his sense of his fitness to represent the constituency.

Andrew Munro, Sidney, on behalf of the Liberals of what may be called the mainland portion of the constituency, seconded the nomination.

This nomination, being the only one forthcoming, was put to the convention and was passed with acclamation.

Mr. Hamilton thanked the convention for choosing him, and declared himself a Liberal first, last and all the time. He would rather fall being in the right, he said, than be in the wrong and win. He was a firm believer in the principles of Liberalism, and a supporter of the Liberal leaders, federal and provincial, and he would endeavor so to do his duty if elected that the electors of the Islands would not regret their choice.

After the business of the convention had been concluded H. C. Brewster, leader of the party in the province, who was present by invitation of the district association, but took no part in the proceedings, was asked to address the delegates. He expressed his pleasure at the result of the convention in the free choice by the representatives of the Liberals in the constituency of one of their own residents to carry the party standard to what would be victory if every man did his duty. He had met Mr. Hamilton for the first time at the Revelstoke convention, where that gentleman had proved to be a quiet force among the delegates, and a man whose opinion was heard with great respect. In him the constituency would have a man-whom political expediency could not sway, a man who would nail his colors to the mast, and win or lose in a fight upon principle alone. The principles which he represented were such as must win sooner or later in this province, as everywhere, and the victory was coming nearer than the government cared to contemplate.

"The premier and Mr. Bowser were quoted in the Sidney paper as being surprised at the choice of Mr. Foster—as if that was possible when such a good friend of theirs as R. E. Green was in command of the convention; but there was one more surprise coming to them in the fact that Mr. Foster was not going to win the election. There was a general awakening of the electorate of the province to the mismanagement of their affairs by the present government, and its machine methods were being discussed by many men who had been good Conservatives all their lives. It would be the opportunity of the Islands to set an example to the rest of the province by the election of an opponent to the government, and in the future they would be able to make the proud boast that they had started the landslide which swept a corrupt and inefficient government out of office."

The latter took up the Liberal platform and pointed out wherein it was constructive as well as marked by destructive criticism of the policies of the McBride-Bowser government. In particular it appealed to the support of the farming community, without which there could never be sound and lasting prosperity in the province. The Liberal party stood for a strong development and settlement policy, the results of which would be that distress would not be felt in times of depression such as at present. Continuing, Mr. Brewster said:

"Mr. Bowser disputes what I said at Vancouver on October 3. He disputes what I did say. The claim I put forward was this, that the settlement of the land is not a question which affects

UNITED STATES RETAIL PRICES HIGHER ON AUGUST 15 THAN IN TWENTY-THREE YEARS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—Retail prices of food were higher August 15 than at any other time during the last twenty-three years, according to figures of the bureau of labor statistics, issued to-day. Retail prices of the principal articles of food in forty important cities show that during the year twelve of the fifteen articles advanced in price, while only three declined.

Comparison of retail prices on August 15, 1913, with prices on the same date in 1912, shows potatoes advanced 29 per cent; bacon, 18.8 per cent; smoked ham, 17.6 per cent; eggs, 12.6 per cent; round steak, 11.6 per cent; stir-fry steak, 10.2 per cent; pork chops, 9.3 per cent; hens, 8.7 per cent; lard, 8.1 per cent; rib roast, 7.9 per cent; butter, 5.7 per cent, and milk, 2.7 per cent. Sugar declined 7.8 per cent; wheat, 5.6 per cent, and corn meal, 2.7 per cent.

When the prices of each of the fifteen articles of food is considered according to average consumption in workingmen's families, retail prices on August 15, 1913, were 66.1 per cent above the average price for the ten-year period, 1890 to 1899; 6.0 per cent above the price on August 15, 1902, and 14.9 per cent above the price on August 15, 1911.

WARNING AGAINST PRESCRIPTION CURE

Case Department is Unable to Reach Demonstrated to the Public

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—Investigation by the department of agriculture has uncovered a new trick by patent-medicine vendors, and the department to-day issued a warning to the public against placing credence in advertisements which philanthropically offer to send free prescriptions that will prove panaceas for whatever is ailing them.

In each case the department investigators discovered the principal ingredients of the cure-all prescription was some patent or proprietary drug which if the compounder did not have it in stock he was compelled to buy at considerable expense.

"The government cannot reach these people under either the food and drug act or the postal laws," the department adds, "because the scheme is so planned as to evade the government laws. The deception and misrepresentation appear in advertisements, circulars, letters, etc., separate from the package, and the medicines are seldom sent through the mails."

"The best the department can do, therefore, is to warn the people to be particularly suspicious of those who spend money for advertising space, postage and letter-writing, seemingly out of their love of humanity. In all of these cases there is a profit-making scheme back of the seeming philanthropy."

NAVAJO STRONGHOLD PREPARES DEFENCE

Be 'Sho She Encamped on Beautiful Mountain Will Not Surrender

Farmington, N. M., Nov. 20.—"We will not surrender; we will fight," declared Chief Be 'Sho She, leader of the Navajos encamped on Beautiful mountain, yesterday, to a peace envoy trying to make a settlement.

Even the news that troops on the way to the agency failed to weaken the stand of the Navajos, who are well fortified, amply provisioned and thoroughly drilled by the songs and dances of their medicine men.

Last night a number of signal fires continued to blaze at various points on the Indian stronghold. Indian police doing scout duty report that several Indian runners left Beautiful mountain for remote points on the reservation to urge other members of the tribe not concerned in the present movement, to join the band of renegades.

Settlers along the San Juan river and traders at remote points on the reservation have appealed to Agent Shelton for protection, fearing that the Indians, now they have learned that troops are coming, may attempt an offensive movement before the arrival of the army.

Through the darkness of last night and to dawn to-day the Indians sang their war songs and danced their war dances around council fires, while sentries stood watch at the many signal fires which fringed the northeastern side of the mesa.

At Shiprock extra precautions were taken against the surprise of a night attack.

BEAVERS BUILT DAM DURING SINGLE NIGHT

Very Numerous and Active in Ashcroft District Said Witness to Water Board.

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—That the beavers in the creeks near Ashcroft are so plentiful that one rancher has had to keep a man on guard all night to prevent the beavers from building a dam across Oregon creek, was evidence given at Ashcroft at a session of the water board to decide a dispute between W. H. Hammond, of Basque ranch and the Ashcroft Water & Electric Light Co. Both of the claimants claim the use of the water, which flows from Hat creek and Oregon creek.

The board reserved judgment on the dispute. In order to preserve the beavers from extinction, an order-in-council has declared the present to be a close year for beaver all over the province, but Mr. Hammond, who is a very large rancher in the Ashcroft district, declared that the animals are very thick around Ashcroft, and are active in spoiling the irrigation works on his lands.

"They are so numerous and active," said Mr. Hammond, "that they will build a big dam in a single night, covering up the irrigation dams and the sluice heads." Mr. Hammond told of one dam near the Basque ranch being covered completely out of sight. In order to get water on to his lands he took a gang of men with tools and powder and opened up a big hole in the beaver dam to let the water of the creek run out.

"What was my surprise," said the witness, "to find that the very next day the hole was completely blocked again with big logs built in by the beavers. Since then I have had to keep a man on guard all night to prevent the beavers from building the dam up again."

FORT FRASER LOTS SALE NEARLY QUARTER MILLION

Highest Price Paid at Auction $6,500 for Double Corner $6,000 for Single Lots.

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—With sales concluded to the amount of between $225,000 and $250,000 at 3.30 o'clock last night the auction of Fort Fraser town lots closed in the Dominion hall. The quarter-million mark was approached after a day's steady auction business, during which some excellent prices were realized for choice property. Slender purses also took advantage of the sale and a considerable number of sales of the lower-priced lots was made.

In the first two hours of the sale 165 lots changed hands and the sum of $60,000 was realized. The demand was brisk. Highest prices realized during the day were $6,500 for a choice double corner, and $6,000 each for single lots in block 157, on Second avenue, leading from the railway station up to Government street.

LARKIN IS ENDURED BY LABOR LEADERS

Updwar Caused by Students in Albert Hall Meeting Held Last Night

London, Nov. 20.—The first appearance as an orator in London of James Larkin, head of the Transport Workers' Union of Dublin, or "King Larkin," as he is now dubbed by his adherents here, resulted in wild scenes of disorder at Albert hall last night, where several thousand people had gathered to hear him.

When Larkin was liberated a week ago from Mountjoy prison, where he was serving a seven-months' term for sedition, he announced that he was going to England to raise the fiery cross, and he predicted a general strike throughout Great Britain.

A large body of students from the colleges connected with London University made an organized attempt to upset the meeting, and fierce rioting outside and inside the hall followed.

A large force of police was requisitioned, and free fights ensued. Many persons were arrested before the meeting was allowed to proceed, for the students successfully stormed the entrance and gained admittance to the hall. Further fighting took place inside, and sticks and umbrellas were freely used. Fireworks were let off among scenes of pandemonium, and, for a time, there was danger of a panic. The orator continued playing, however, and the audience began singing "God Save the King," and "Rule Britannia."

When order was partly restored, Larkin went on with his speech, which was mainly devoted to a denunciation of the government in connection with the Dublin strike.

He spoke for an hour, but although at times he roused his audience to cheers, his speech was on the whole, a disappointment to his hearers, he seemed exhausted by his energy at Manchester, or else the vast mass at Albert hall engulfed him. Mr. Lansbury, the ex-Socialist member, who resigned in order that he might fight a bye-election on woman suffrage, and lost, made the most effective speech of the evening. He said:—Go out and rouse up holy discontent among men and women. We don't care what means the workers take to secure their salvation, so long as they take some means. We must get rid, once and for all, of the wage system in this country."

Updwar broke out when Tom Taylor announced that the parliamentary committee of the Trades Union Congress, had decided to call a special trade congress to consider the Dublin dispute, but it turned to a howl of derision when he added that the congress was to take place in three weeks' time. At the trade union leaders were in earnest, said Taylor, amid cheers, the conference would be called for next Monday. There were shouts and applause when he said he wanted to know what was in the heads of the leaders—if there was anything.

English labor leaders are clearly embarrassed by Larkin's crusade, and, while there is little fear of a general sympathetic strike in England, many of the rank and file of trade unionists, notably railway men and transport workers, strongly admire Larkin's achievements, and the leaders fear the effect of his eloquence. They cannot make up their minds to approve of his campaign, but they dare not discourage it. Larkin is endured, rather than welcomed.

DIVORCE UNNECESSARY IN INDETERMINATE TERM

United States Legal Decision in Connection With Marriage of Prisoner's Wife.

New York, Nov. 20.—A man serving an indeterminate term in prison, is civilly dead and his wife may remarry without divorce or annulment proceedings, according to an opinion handed down by Supreme Court Judge Maddox in Brooklyn to-day. In so deciding, he issued a writ of mandamus directing the marriage license bureau to grant a license to Mrs. Mary Gargan, a school teacher. Her husband was sent to Sing Sing for second-degree murder, with a maximum sentence of life. She will now marry William Weisheimer, a lithographer.

NINE PER CENT. IS IMMIGRATION INCREASE

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—There was an increase of 9 per cent in the number of new arrivals in Canada during the first seven months of the fiscal year, April to October. The total immigration for that period was 327,938. Of the new arrivals, 123,888 came from the British Isles, 80,330 from the United States, and 18,715 from other countries. During the same period last year the figures were 300,541, 118,497, 100,140 and 22,204 compared respectively.

For the month of October there has been a notable decrease in the number of arrivals, the total being 27,132, as compared with 30,646 for the same period last year.

PRESIDENT MACLEAN INSTALLED IN OFFICE

Dr. Westbrook Speaks on "The Provincial University in Canadian Development"

Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—At a special convocation at the Walker theatre this afternoon James Alexander MacLean, P.H.D., LL.D., was inaugurated president of the University of Manitoba. His Grace Archbishop Matheson, of Rupertland, chancellor of the University of Manitoba, presiding. The following addresses were delivered: On behalf of the government, Hon. Sir R. P. Roblin; St. Boniface College, Rev. Edward LeCompte; St. John's College, Very Rev. Dean Coombs, N. A.; Manitoba College, Rev. Dr. A. B. Baird; Wesley College, Rev. A. Stewart; Manitoba Medical College, Acting-dean J. Wilfred Good; convocation, Jasper Halpenny; Manitoba College of Pharmacy, Principal H. E. Bletcher; University faculty, Prof. Frank Allen. Archbishop Matheson, as chancellor, gave the address of installation. Dr. MacLean, the first president of the university, delivered the inaugural address, in which he dealt with the birth and growth of the institution.

Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—The various ceremonies in connection with the official installation of President J. A. MacLean, of the University of Manitoba, were begun yesterday afternoon at Manitoba College in Convention hall. The opening exercises began with an international conference, Hon. G. H. Caldwell, minister of education, presiding.

Addresses were given by President Frank F. Westbrook, M.D., LL.D., of the University of British Columbia, on "The Provincial University in Canadian Development," Rev. Lewis Drummond, professor of theology at Edmonton College, on "Mental Perspective," and Professor Frank Meyer, LL.D., LL.B., of the University of South Dakota, on "Statemanship in Education."

An inauguration dinner was given by the university men's and women's clubs Wednesday, at which President Kane, of the University of Washington, and President R. A. Falconer, of Toronto University, were the speakers.

Dr. Westbrook spoke on "The Provincial University in Canadian Development." He said in part: "The problems involved in the development of Canada are not to be compared with those of any other country in the world. Her remoteness from the centre of the Imperial government, and her close social and business association with the friendly neighbors to the south, who, of necessity, cannot understand her relations to the Mother Country, have not served to disturb her peace."

"The development, round out, time and nationalize, Britain has taken two thousand years. In the making of that portion of Greater Britain, the Briton, the Celt, the Scot, the Roman, the Saxon, the Jute, the Angle, the Norman, and even the Spaniard, since the time of the Armada, have been fused, while the Jew has furnished an increasingly important strain for the past thousand years. Nor has Germany failed to make her contribution to our highest social and government structure. The facilities, however, for rapid nation-building have increased by leaps and bounds, of which the chief is ease of transportation and communication."

"In the United States the world has had the opportunity of seeing the creation of a nation in a day, where the scores of elements have been garnered in from the four corners of the earth, from those countries whose centuries of growth have brought, over-crowding, and in some have given birth to intolerable social, economic, religious and political conditions. In Canada the same conditions obtain as are to be encountered in the United States, with the difference, however, that the Anglo-Saxon dominates, British tradition governs, and Britain's law and rule are paramount. Also, inevitably, Canada must afford ultimate relief from the over-crowding of her older neighbor."

"The problem of Britain, Germany or Japan is quite another story. The nations in their growth, as well as others, which can be easily called to mind, are endogenous—that is, in them development proceeds from within."

"In the United States and Canada, and those countries which are being populated more largely by the immigration of other people than by that of the native-born, there is crying need of certain nation-building mechanisms, whose functions shall be to secure rapid fusions of bloods and formulation of common standards which shall serve to develop a people of the highest type. In Canada the ideas and ideals are grown from British seed and transplanted to new-world soil, but must have engrafted upon them an international viewpoint submitted to her many peoples, in order that the full fruition of Canadian national efficiency may be her contribution to the Empire."

DAY OF DREADNOUGHT IS NOW ALMOST OVER

Austria-Hungary Showing Activity in Building Ships of War

Vienna, Austria, Nov. 20.—The statement that the rate at which big battleships are being laid down may be retarded has given rise to protests in the Vienna press and among the public. The fact that Austria-Hungary is far behind the other nations of Europe in the matter of naval equipment, is painfully felt, and the public consider that even if the present enormous ship-building programme is carried out, Austria-Hungary is far behind the other great powers of Europe.

She is aware that the day of dreadnoughts is almost over, that fast cruisers, with oil fuel are of more use in these days of aeroplanes, and yet those in authority are ordering the older kind of ship, "the late as usual," the public says. There is also to be a large increase in the number of torpedo-boats and other small craft.

As regards airships, progress is also unsatisfactory, although Austria already possesses a number of aeroplanes of a very stable design. Her pilots are very cautious and seldom get either themselves or their machines damaged. If they do not accomplish unusual feats, they are steady and reliable, and the fleet of biplanes will soon perhaps equal that of any power, excepting France, as a large number of capable officers have already been trained and more are training.

The dockyards both in Austria and in Hungary are being enlarged, and preparations are being made for the laying down the keels of a greater number of ships. Guns also are being made in the great Bohemian iron works, and everywhere there is undue haste in the manufacture of armaments. It is not known when the next dreadnoughts will be laid down, but it is certain that four will be commenced in the new year, and that they will be of the largest type.

Meanwhile, in spite of denials from various sources, it is certain that large sums of money will be spent on small cruisers. Whether the money will be included in the budget for the second half of 1914, or whether the ships will be built on credit, is not known. In any case Austria-Hungary intends to fit herself out as a first-class sea power.

The reason for all this haste is the question of supremacy in the Mediterranean. Greece will undoubtedly become a naval power of importance, which will have to be considered in calculations of strength. Italy is building furiously, in order to be able to keep pace with France; Germany is not certain how long Russia will be cooped up beyond the Dardanelles. All the efforts of the powers forming the triple alliance, however, will hardly be equal to putting a fleet on the seas which is nearly equal to that commanded by the triple entente, and the hopes of superiority only lie in the fact that conscription is not the rule in England.

The powers in central Europe hope that England may soon be short of men for her ships, when as she says, her immense fleet of dreadnoughts will only be "so much old iron." There is no doubt that the chief object of the visit of Kaiser Wilhelm to Konigsberg and Vienna was not only to attempt to smooth-away the difficulties caused between the countries by his lack of support during the winter, but also to discuss the question of the balance of power in the Mediterranean, and to consider what measures should be taken by the triple alliance to combat the ever growing power of the rival systems of alliances.

CAFES ARE NOT EXEMPT UNDER LORD'S DAY ACT

Vancouver Magistrate Advises Single Men to Marry When Acquainted With Fact.

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—Those who have no regular homes and are accustomed to eat their Sunday meals in cafes and restaurants may have to go hungry if the Lord's Day Act is strictly enforced, was the discovery made yesterday in the police court by Magistrate Shaw and Crown Prosecutor Kennedy.

Thomas Drysdale was prosecuted on a charge that he had a cafe on Powell street he sold goods on Sunday. He satisfactorily explained the charge, saying that a bottle of home-made jam was sold by one of the girls in the cafe contrary to his knowledge. Mr. Kennedy withdrew the information, but in doing so looked over the act to see if any exception were made for the sale of cigars in a restaurant on Sunday, and made the surprising discovery that neither restaurants or cafes were in the list of business permitted to be carried on seven days per week.

"The only way I see out of it," declared Magistrate Shaw, jocularly, "is for the single men to marry." "I think, however," he continued, "that it would be covered by the section relating to acts of mercy and necessity."

"If I had about cigars then," enquired Mr. Kennedy. "Are not they a necessity?"

"I used to think so when I smoked," laughed the magistrate, "and I would then have sooner missed a meal than a good smoke."

Mr. Kennedy intimated that unless the attorney-general especially desired it, no prosecutions would be laid for feeding the hungry on Sunday.

SIR WILFRID'S BIRTHDAY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, statesman, patriot and philosopher, is celebrating his seventy-second birthday to-day. Although the Grand Old Man of Canada has passed the commonly-allotted span, the generalization of the philosopher of old does not apply to him. Time has dealt gently with the great Liberal leader, or perhaps it would be more correct to say that Sir Wilfrid, because he is the first of all a philosopher, has skillfully out-generaled Father Time. The disabilities commonly associated with the burden of years have passed lightly over his head. They do not sit upon his shoulders at all, notwithstanding the fact that from his youth up the man who seventy-two years ago was born in St. Lin is frail in frame and has never been understood to enjoy really robust health. It is because he has ruled himself firmly and with judgment that time has dealt with him so gently and that to-day as leader of the opposition Sir Wilfrid Laurier is still the dominating figure in the public life of his native land as well as an Imperial statesman whose views carry more weight in the councils of the Empire than those of any public man in the dominions. As a philosopher Sir Wilfrid accepted his defeat two years ago with perfect grace. He bowed courteously to the will of the people, never a bitter word passed his lips, but he knew that the day would come when the wisdom of his policies, Imperial and domestic, would be vindicated. Perhaps, although Sir Wilfrid's foresight is well known, he did not dream that the day of vindication was so near. Possibly he may have thought that morn would not dawn while he was upon the scene to bow his acknowledgments of the inevitable triumph of principle. But the short space of two years has been sufficient to demonstrate that in all essentials the policies of the government led by Sir Wilfrid were sound, and the leader of seventy-two knows to-day that if the will of the people could be ascertained he would now be the leader of the government instead of head of the opposition.

It would perhaps be too much to expect Sir Wilfrid's political opponents to have any great love for him. He has put them too often to confusion for any such feeling to be possible. But while they fear him, they also admire and respect him, and we know that with very few exceptions they will join with us in wishing the greatest of Canadians many happy returns of the day.

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

In selecting Alexander Hamilton as their candidate the Liberals of the Islands have made a wise choice. Mr. Hamilton is a successful farmer of Pender Island, where he has resided for many years. Like most farmers, he has an excellent knowledge of public questions, and is thoroughly informed of the needs of the district. He is a firm believer in the principles of Liberalism, but is not the kind of man who would give slavish allegiance to any party nor surrender his right to exercise independence of thought and action at the dictation of a caucus.

The history of politics the world over has shown that rural constituencies have been less susceptible to specious appeals or the influence of the fleshpots than any other electorate. Renfrew and South Bruce in Ontario afford striking examples of this fact. In these ridings two powerful organizations threatened, coaxed and attempted to bribe the electors to support the candidates endorsed by the federal government. Promises of extensive public works were lavishly given; the electors were told they would be punished in the expenditure column if they did not do what they were commanded to do. But they could not be bribed, bluffed or frightened. They sent to parliament the men they considered most worthy of their suffrages, even though their members would have to adorn the opposition benches.

If ever there was a time in the interests of this province when a zealous, watchful opposition was required in our legislature, that time is now. The business of the people is being transacted in the dark. For seven or eight years the public accounts committee of the legislature did not meet, a most unprecedented condition, until last session, when the hue and cry of the Liberal press forced the Premier to call it together. And even then its sessions were farcical; the committee really became an agency of concealment, as witness the investigation of the Soan's Reserve transaction. Mr. Hamilton, we are sure, would be able to render the country excellent service in this respect, while the legislation would benefit materially from the practical, common-sense counsel we know he would give.

AN INDEPENDENT CONSERVATIVE.

Mr. Eustace Maude has announced his candidature as an Independent Conservative for the Islands constituency. Mr. Maude is a farmer on Mayne Island who declines to accept the theory expounded by headquarters that an essentially agricultural community should not be represented in the legislature by one of its own members. That his attitude is widely supported in the district was shown at the recent Conservative convention, when he received thirty-three votes to the thirty-seven given to Mr. Foster, the McBride-Bowser nominee.

The Liberals of the riding also endorse this view, because they have nominated a resident of the district. To that extent, therefore, the Liberals and Independent Conservatives stand upon a common principle. Where they differ is in matters of policy and party, but they are one in their indignant resentment of the dictatorial interference of the machine in their affairs. The calm assumption that Mr. Foster would be accepted by the party in the district at the call of the autocrats across the Bay; the dispatch of R. F. Green, M. P., to take charge of the convention so that the plans should not gang agley; and the nomination of Mr. Foster, with its implication that there was nobody in the district capable of representing it in the legislature, were too insulting to the electors to be meekly submitted to. No doubt every effort will be made to induce Mr. Maude to retire. He will be both cajoled and threatened. But, though he is an opponent of the Liberal cause in this contest, we have no hesitation in saying that we do not believe he is the kind of man to be bluffed or frightened from the field.

THE CIVIC FINANCES.

Alderman McNeill does not agree with the recommendation that the city negotiate a loan of $250,000 in connection with the proposed changes in its fiscal system. It is, in his opinion, unnecessary and will entail a heavy burden on the taxpayers in interest and sinking fund which can be avoided in several ways. The present scheme provides for the receipt of taxes on November 30, but to avoid a double collection in the initial year the sum of $1,500,000 will be borrowed. The alderman says there are three alternatives to this. One is to make a small levy for, say, three years, which by that time would provide sufficient funds to enable a start to be made with the new system; to collect taxes twice in a year—in March and October—giving a larger rebate on the spring collections than on those paid in the fall; or, gradually over several years, settling back the date of the annual collection from the present month to March 31.

We do not look very highly on the special levy idea. Once imposed, it is questionable if it would be removed at the end of the three years. But there is considerable force in both the other alternatives. If the ratepayers, or any considerable proportion of them, could be induced to pay part of their taxes in March, the city would have sufficient funds to carry it forward and its advances from the banks would be insignificant in comparison with what they necessarily are now. The budget could be drafted by the old council in December, to be ratified and finally adopted by the new council in January, and it would be only necessary to obtain accommodation from the banks for a couple of months. Alderman McNeill believes that in this way the city would effect a considerable saving in comparison with the cost of a loan. The system of tax collection twice a year prevails in England.

But before any of these proposals are advanced very far they should be thoroughly thrashed out by our citizens and various public bodies. They are at one with the suggestion of our contemporary a few mornings ago that the board of trade should give the subject close consideration and examination. That our whole system of civic administration is out of date the experience of the last few years has amply demonstrated. But if the present proposals are to be submitted to the public in the form of a referendum it is important that they should be fully discussed and generally understood. There has been not a little indiscriminate voting on by-laws in this city and it should not be repeated in what promises to be the most important issue ever submitted to the electors.

MERELY A SMALL PARTNER.

Then Sir Richard did not put the Johnson street bridge in Miss Victoria's stocking after all? Yet our contemporary led us to believe on December 25 that the Premier was the kind Santa Claus whom we should thank for the project. And now, presto, the government has shrunk to the modest proportions of a side partner and the city has become the main factor. Strangely enough, though, Alderman Porter on Tuesday asked the Premier if work would be started pending the sale of the bonds to be issued by the city to raise its share of the cost. Sir Richard's reply was that he would have to consult his colleagues about it. When tenders are invited it will be in the name of the provincial department of public works and not in that of the city.

We can quite understand the attitude of the morning paper. It simply has to exonerate its masters no matter how harshly it may misjudge the city.

THEIR OPPORTUNITY.

During the Balkan war Pierre Loti, the celebrated French novelist, published a number of articles graphically describing the atrocities committed by the Bulgarian soldiery. The authorities were infuriated and dispatched a noted duellist to Paris with a challenge to the writer. At the time it was announced that should the challenger get the worst of the duel, another would be sent, and so on until Loti was put out of business. The novelist, however, declined to accept the challenge, not because he feared his would-be adversary, but being cultured and thoroughly civilized as well as endowed with a keen sense of the ridiculous, he did not care to make a world-wide exhibition of himself. Another French writer, however, who enjoys duels as a relaxation, took up the gauntlet and yesterday Bulgaria's champion had to make a record trip to a hospital in an emergency ambulance.

Bulgaria's unique method of obtaining satisfaction is not confined in scope to the old world. It was announced the other day that another duellist was on the way to Montreal to challenge Captain Reid, late of the Royal Engineers, who contributed a series of articles to the Montreal Witness (now the Telegraph) which aroused the ire of Czar Ferdinand's myrmidons. The captain says he will accept the challenge, but being the challenged party it is for him to stipulate the time, place and circumstances of the meeting. He favors the Bosphorus as the place and Whitehead torpedoes as the weapons.

The Toronto Star thinks the prospect of a real live duel would be welcomed by a certain type of Canadian newspaper and public man, those who are enamored of the conditions and customs of the Old World that they desire to have them applied to Canada. Menace, emergency, militarism, why not the duel? We are developing a titled aristocracy on a large scale. We have knights galore, and yet we have not had a solitary duel. This is an anomaly which should be remedied. Now, we have a suggestion to make. The Bulgarian authorities believe they have been injured by the publication in the Canadian press of articles derogatory to the well-known gentle and humane spirit of their soldiers. They demand satisfaction through an accomplished fire-eater or sword-swallower.

Why should not one of our knightly newspaper men accept the challenge? There are two, Sir Hugh Graham and Sir John Willison, both, by the way, perfervid admirers of the old-world and its ways. Here is an opportunity for these two devoted Tories to take on behalf of Canada a long stride back to those ideal days of the medieval age. Before an insolent democracy dared to raise its head.

Canada is now back to the position she occupied in 1894. The government is sending out statistics from Ottawa to prove that the country is prosperous. When the Laurier government was in power, as its leader predicted would be the case, it was not necessary to prove by statistical quotations that prosperity abounded. Canadians felt it in their pockets and reflected it from their countenances.

There are people, we believe, who think apples of class can be grown in British Columbia. And so they can. But there are parts of England in which apples can be grown too, and sold at a profit, notwithstanding that there is no protective duty, no inspection, and apparently no restrictions of any kind. They are an independent, self-reliant people those Britons. They believe in standing on their own feet. One single apple weighing 32½ ounces was grown in Herefordshire this year. Furthermore, it was plucked from a "tree" growing in a flowerpot eleven inches in diameter. A brother of this monster was produced by the same grocer off the same tree in the year 1910. It was sold for $14. We are not informed as to the figure realized from the sale of this year's specimen. Possibly we may have something to learn about fruit-growing yet. It is really a remarkable thing when you come to think of it how those English fruit-growers can get along without protection.

Victoriano Huerta cites Napoleon's dissolution of the Directory as a precedent for the crushing of his congress. We knew he had been reading history with an eye to precedents. Why on earth he did not refer to the Russian outrages on the Polish Diet we cannot guess. The assassination of the defenceless Poles in those days would have been more to his fancy than the Napoleonic coup.

Col. Sam Hughes says he found the Germans amiable and amicable. In fact they are a "lovely people" and he enjoyed his trip to their country very much. Quite a change in sentiment from the hair-raising character he gave the Germans in his memorable speech before the Victoria and Vancouver Canadian Clubs.

The forcible deportation of that Hindoo will do more damage to British prestige in India than a thousand political speeches. The Ottawa imperialists are cementing the empire with a vengeance.

The great question of the day is, whose money is it—the Mayor's or the orphanage's?

MANUFACTURERS WOULD DIVIDE CANADA.

Grain Growers' Guide.
The Canadian Manufacturers' Association branches and pays for a policy declaring that manufacturing industries cannot be developed under free competition. This means that we must have a protective tariff at the Great Lakes to fence out the "cheap labor" products of Eastern Canada before we can have any factories in the prairie provinces. The grain growers, however, are opposed to this policy of splitting up Canada. They would remove the tariff entirely and make the cost of production so cheap for legitimate industries that foreign competition would be impossible. That is the policy every good business man follows in his own business. Civilization has now advanced to the stage where common sense should be applied in National business affairs.

BAPTIST AND REVOLUTIONIST.

London News and Leader.
"At the Baptist Union Assembly, the Rev. H. Dunnicliffe, of Liverpool, moved a resolution declaring that underneath the economic causes of great international distress the great moral impulses and an appeal for justice which ought not to be ignored. The mover said: 'How any man can condemn unrest in a world like this passes my comprehension. The very system of society in which we live is a suggestion of all that the Church of God stands for. The Christian man must be a revolutionist; he must rebel against conditions that crush and blight and damn thousands of our fellow-creatures. The Christian church, regardless of politicians and economists, must result in securing for every man the right to earn his daily bread. Every man must have a "living wage." The resolution was carried unanimously amid applause.'

CHANGING FRONT.

The times are surely changing. Consider, for instance, this remark by the Ottawa Citizen, published at the capital and supposed to be an exponent of conservative opinion:
"During the last four months Canadians have taken over $20,000,000 out of their private pockets and put it into their public pocket. During the same time they have probably paid $100,000,000 to Canadian protected manufacturers. In increased prices. Wherein is the advantage? Is it merely a matter of duty?"

CLEVER BRITISH POLITICIANS.

Kingston Whig.
Mr. Samuel England's postmaster-general, made a speech in Toronto which, on the naval question, was satisfactory to both Liberals and Conservatives. These English politicians are wonderful men when they can so delicately shape their speech that it fits into the creed and condition of any party. The ministers at Ottawa have something to learn.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

Winnipeg Tribune.
New York's murder record is an outcome of political corruption. First, there was bribery, then ballot-stealing, ballot-box stuffing, and then the next step, murder. Political crime is progressive. One step leads to another.

ISLAND ARTS CLUB HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Progress of Organization Recorded in President Hasell's Report; Plans Outlined

The annual meeting of the Island Arts and Crafts Club was held last night at the Alexandra Club. Dr. Hasell in the chair, and about thirty members being present. The election of officers resulted as follows: Dr. Hasell, president; re-elected by unanimous vote; J. J. Shallercross, first vice-president, also unanimous; Mr. Bamford, second vice-president; C. B. Daniell, treasurer, (re-elected); and J. R. Blaikie, secretary (re-elected). The committee was as follows: Mrs. Bampfyde Daniell, Miss J. Crease, Miss M. Kitto, Crawford Coates, Miss Mills, Miss Wyld, Hugh Davis and V. J. Cummings.

The vote for the second vice president resulted as follows: J. J. Shallercross, 10 votes; and Mr. Bamford, 10 votes. On the re-ballot, receiving the majority vote. A new office was created when Miss Lang was elected to the assistant-secretaryship, thus making an additional ex-officio member for the committee.

The president's report was comprehensive, but brief, and gave a resume of the progress and work during the past year. The number of members was now 120 as compared with 62 at the end of 1910.

An important departure had been made in the opening of the School of Handicraft and Design under the auspices of the club, the funds for which were collected by Mr. Shallercross. Miss Mills and an able staff of instructors had done admirable work. Nineteen pupils were attending classes, five of whom took two subjects. The exhibition held October 16, 17 and 18, was a great financial success. The art prize drawing did as well as was successful as last year, and it was to be hoped that more interest would be taken in this during the ensuing year.

In conclusion, after giving a report of the attendances during the past twelve months, the president thanked his colleagues for their able and loyal services, particularly referring to the services given by the secretary, Mr. Blaikie.

A statement of receipts and payments relating to the fourth annual exhibition held last month was read, this showing the balance in favor of the exhibition which was transferred to the general account amounted to $8.85. The balance sheet for the year ending October 31 showed a balance in hand of $53 after expenditures were deducted from receipts.

A letter was read from the Hon. Dr. Young announcing some scholarships at the British School at Rome, these being in architecture, decorative painting and sculpture. Full particulars would be found posted at the Arts and Crafts School, Courtney street.

An important announcement was made to the effect that there would be an exhibition at the Arts and Crafts School during the first week in December, when leatherwork, sketches, jewelry, etc., suitable for Christmas gifts, would be on sale. It was also announced that a life-class would be established at the school, provided six pupils could be enrolled, and applications were solicited in order that the classes might commence as early as possible. Anyone wishing to join should communicate with Miss Mills at the school, Courtney street.

At the close of the business proceedings a social half hour was enjoyed, and delicious refreshments passed round, this bringing the proceedings to a conclusion.

UNBOUND.

Sometimes when feeling close confined

And shut within a narrow sphere, It's rather pleasing to my mind

To gaze off in the heavens clear, And fancy that the earth is but

A front-seat at some wondrous show

Where I may sit and watch the strut

Of forces marching to and fro; And when the play for me is done,

I'll find at last a dwelling-place In broad fields bounded by the sun,

The moon, the stars, and endless space.

COME IN AND HEAR THE New Edison

DISC-TYPE

No matter how many other music-reproducing instruments you have heard; you have no conception of what the New Edison is unless you have heard it. Actually reproducing, for the first time, tone-color, or over-tones, it gets away entirely from the limitations of old-style instruments, and reproduces the tones clear and rich, and bell-like, as they were produced by the artist originally.

The New Edison is played by means of a diamond-point needle, which never requires changing. It uses records that are actually indestructible, and that play twice as long as any other record. It embodies an automatic stop device.

Rich in case design and finish, the New Edison is a marvelous instrument in every way. Don't fail to come in and hear it play, whether you intend to buy or not. You will not be pressed, and you will not be under any obligation.

THE ROMANCE OF

"TREASURE ISLAND"

Thirtieth Birthday of Robert

Louis Stevenson's Master-

piece; an Amazing Book

This month, "Treasure Island" attains its thirtieth birthday—a long life now, for any work of fiction, let alone a book written primarily for boys, says the Pall Mall Gazette. For, during the last few decades, the child's taste in reading has changed even more completely than the adult's.

"Recall the popular juvenile books of 20 years ago, and find how many of them are in demand to-day. Yet 'Treasure Island' sells better and is more widely read and enjoyed to-day than ever in its history. Its immortality may be reckoned as safe as 'Robinson Crusoe'."

Stevenson himself has recorded with gusto, one chilly September morning at Braemar, by the cheek of a brisk fire, and the rain drumming on the window, he composed the first chapters of his great romance.

Having first drawn the chart of an island (charts being to him "of all books the least wearisome to read, and the richest in matter"), he wrote around it a story to please his school-boy stepson, Lloyd Osbourne, who had coolly requested him to try to write something really interesting. "It was one school-boy yarning to another, and a third—the novelist's father—soon took fire and helped on the story with many romantic suggestions."

The story grew rapidly at the rate of a chapter a day, and when ten were written a visitor, Dr. Alexander Japp, bore them off to offer to a publisher. Through his good offices the story was accepted, immediately by the proprietor of Young Folks, and began its serial course in October, 1881, under the signature of "Capt. George North."

The ready acceptance pleased Stevenson, but the serial publication landed him in difficulties. When only nineteen chapters were written he had to remove from Braemar to Davos, and the story stuck. Fortunately, however, there came another wave of inspiration, and the last fourteen chapters were penned in as many days.

If the enthusiasm of friends had led the author to expect a great and immediate success he was disappointed. During the four months of its serial course in Young Folks it spoiled the paper's circulation, and drew "acornful and indignant protest" from its readers.

Two years later, however, in November, 1883, when "Treasure Island" appeared in book form, its reception was amazing. The story which the children rejected was hailed with enthusiasm by their parents. Statesmen and judges, we are told, sat up all night to read it. John Lubbock, the Saturday Review wrote of it excitedly as the best thing since "Robinson Crusoe."

And Andrew Lang, after "several hours of unmingled bliss," declared it comparable with the Odyssey.

The story goes that Mr. Gladstone, catching a glimpse of it one evening at Lord Rosebery's, spent the next morning hunting the book for a second-hand copy. Within a few months it was translated into half the languages of Europe.

A South London Experiment. It may be asked, however, is it still the grown-up alone who find pleasure in "Treasure Island," or has it come to its own with the keen young critics for whom it was first intended?

A short while since, remembering its early rejection, the writer sent the story to a crowd of children in a public library in one of the poorest districts of South London.

All were poor, many were ragged, many underfed, but they came night after night and listened with breathless interest and appreciation, not only to the exciting episodes of action, but to such passages as Long John Silver's wonderful grammar and his confounding rates in the blockhouse, what time he was plotting to betray them. It was the triumph of "R. L. S." How he would have enjoyed it, had he been there to see!

DEATH OF A DIPLOMAT.

Sir H. Rumbold's Long Career; a Memory of Bismarck.

We regret to announce that Sir Horace Rumbold, the well-known diplomatist, died at Vicar's Hill, Lymington, after a short illness, says the Pall Mall Gazette.

Horace Rumbold was born at Calcutta in July, 1829. After serving for a short time at the foreign office he was sent to Turin in 1849 as attaché under Mr. Abercromby, who was succeeded in 1851 by Sir James Hudson, that "most genial of men and prince of clerks," as he is described by Sir Horace in his "Recollections of a Diplomatist."

At Florence Sir Horace made the acquaintance of Charles Lever, the Irish novelist, "whose pen," he says, "with all its brilliancy, gives but a partial idea of what a wealth of wit and fun there was in the man, what charm in his unpretentious breeches." Rumbold next went to the Paris embassy under Lord Cowley. There he witnessed the proclamation of the second empire, and never, he declared, did so great an event bear so unreal an aspect in his eyes. Sir Horace, says the Morning Post, was no believer in an imperialist restoration.

At Frankfurt Sir Horace became acquainted with Prince Bismarck, was frequently his guest, and was favorably impressed by his cordiality and rough bonhomie. Sir Horace was biased for the frankness with which in his reminiscences he expressed his opinions of some of the personages with whom he came into contact, and his remarks about the Iron Chancellor may be taken as typical.

"Bismarck (he remarks) was, then, after his bluff, imperious fashion, so seductive that I have some difficulty, when looking back, in establishing his identity with the incarnation of arrogant Prussian Junkerdom he afterwards showed himself, riding roughshod over everything and dominating the century by a regime based on sheer brute force. Still less am I able to reconcile with my recollections of my genial, humorous host of those days the anti-English sentiments he later on revealed, and to the inspiring influence of which we owe the unreasoning hatred of us so strongly evinced by the later-day German Splendid as were his services to his country and kindred, he has, it seems to me, left behind him an evil heritage in this among other things."

Sir Horace served in most parts of the world—Europe, Asia and America—before, in 1886, he was appointed ambassador in Vienna, where he finished his diplomatic career.

Sir Horace Rumbold was twice married, first to Caroline, daughter of Mr. George Harrington, of Washington, and secondly in 1881 to Louisa, daughter of Mr. Thomas Russell Crampton and widow of Capt. St. George Francis Robert Crampton, 1st Life Guards. He is succeeded in the baronetcy by his son, Mr. Horace George Montague Rumbold, who has been councillor of embassy at Tokio since 1909.

A CHARACTERISTIC SCOT.

"It was one school-boy yarning to another, and a third—the novelist's father—soon took fire and helped on the story with many romantic suggestions."

ALL-BLACKS DEFEATED VICTORIA

Wonderful Rugby at Oak Bay

Visitors Displayed Marvellous Combination and Were Never in Danger; Score 23 to 0.

New Zealand ..... 3 4 23
Victoria ..... 0 0 0

The above was the final score in the great Rugby game at Oak Bay yesterday. In defeating the local men the travellers added yet another to a long string of victories gained in the south. Their record now is 23 points to 0—truly marvellous record.

Yesterday the teams lined up as follows:

Position	All-Blacks	Victoria
Fullback	J. E. Cuthill	H. A. Spencer
Three-quarters	T. Lynch	C. Martin
	R. Roberts	F. Hill
	G. Loveridge	V. R. Bennett
	D. M. Grant
Five-eighths	P. Mitchinson
Halfbacks	G. D. Gray
	E. Roberts	S. Hendra
Forwards	H. V. Murray	H. V. Watkins (capt.)
	C. Schellars	R. Gillespie
	F. Williams	W. J. Baum
	J. Graham	J. Acland
	A. Downing	R. M. Clark
	H. Dewar	D. Gray
	A. V. McDonald (capt.)	G. Carstairs
	M. Paine	B. Scott

Defeated, Not Disgraced.

Victoria has every reason to be proud of her "rep" Rugby fifteen, which yesterday held the New Zealand All-Blacks to 23 points in the most spirited encounter ever beheld in this city. The reputation and known phenomenal serving ability of the visitors did not serve to intimidate the local men who played a hard game in all departments from the opening whistle until "no side" sounded.

Carew Martin, Shires, Spencer and Carstairs were the outstanding figures on the Victoria team. Shires played one of the games of his life and was like a streak of lightning behind the scrum. His touch finding was above reproach. Spencer, at fullback, was at his best, and those who have seen the Wanderers' last line of defence in action will know what that means.

The Game.

The Victoria boys in new crimson jerseys were the first on the field. They were given a hearty cheer. Gathered on the field the All-Blacks lined up in single file, placed hands on one another's shoulders and emitted their weird Maori cries in repetition of the custom started by the touring All-Blacks of 1905.

The New Zealanders had won the toss and consequently had the advantage of a brisk southerly wind. The field was soft with recent rains and in parts covered with little pools.

Victoria pressed in the first minute and the crowd had early something to cheer at when the crimson jerseys swept into their opponents' 25. Roberts relieved for the All-Blacks with a long punt into touch. Spencer took the count a few seconds later when two burly forwards ran into him at full tilt from a drop-out.

Marvellous Combination.

The next incident of note was a wonderful passing run by the All-Blacks three who backed each other up with amazing celerity. A dropped pass, however, and a fine intercept by Hill changed the venue and once again the crimson shirts massed into their opponents' territory. Carew Martin next raised the enthusiasm of the spectators to a high pitch with a long individual run which was only ended by a flying tackle which hurled the local winger far into touch.

After a breakaway by the All-Blacks' forwards, during which Blaney Scott was conspicuous for some good tackling Carstairs made a mark, from which Gillespie tried hard to draw first blood. His kick at goal however went just wide.

At this stage of the game Victoria were holding the visitors well, all the backs working like lions to prevent a score.

At last the tenacity of the visitors was rewarded. After 15 minutes play Lynch picked up in the loose but was brought down by Hill. Falling, he managed to pass to Roberts who again sent a swift pass to Loveridge. Each man was promptly downed by one or other of the local three, but R. Roberts, who had picked himself up easily, received a flying pass and with a great burst of speed went over in the corner for a well earned try. Graham failed to add the extra point.

The Victoria back afterwards made a great mark from a long high punt. Shortly afterwards a Victoria man got offside and Referee Sparks awarded a penalty kick to the visitors. Mitchinson made no mistake and booted the ball clean over the bar.

Grant, playing at inside three-quarter, was keeping Martin nicely fed with passes; and from one of these Martin made a grand run right along the left touch line, gaining at least fifty yards. A flying kick, however, sent the locals back and some carelessness behind the line cost Victoria another five points. Two Victoria men overran the ball and failed to touch down for safety, leaving a chance for Mitchinson to score. The same player converted.

After the drop-out E. Roberts was responsible for the finest run of the day, making rings round half the Victoria team before he was downed.

A penalty for handling in the scrum resulted in the All-Blacks adding three more points for a penalty goal. Mitchinson again doing the needful with a fine kick.

Baum in Form.

Baum was conspicuous early in the second half for some great work in dribbling and with better backing might have got over. Cuthill, however, was very safe. The All-Blacks' three changed the venue and a five yards' scrum near the home line soon spelled danger. E. Roberts, the All-Blacks' scrum half, picked up from his forwards' heels, feinted to pass to Gray and attempted to scramble through round the edge of the pack. He was held on the line. Again the scrum was formed and again Roberts attempted the same play, this time successfully.

One of the most spectacular features of the day followed when Spencer gathered the ball perfectly running at full speed, and with a long flying punt found touch in his opponents' twenty-five. The feat was loudly applauded.

Victoria were pressing hard at this juncture, Shires being prominent with speedy movements behind the scrum. Some time later, however, he was not quick enough, for after Victoria had heeled out, the game little scrum half attempted to kick, was downed, and Cain swooped on the ball like lightning. He touched down near the right flag. Hendra was obliged to throw into touch to avert a score, but the penalty kick failed. The irrepressible Victoria left wing made a last attempt to get over just before the whistle blew and nearly accomplished his object. When no side sounded, the All-Blacks had won by 1 goal, 2 penalty goals and 4 tries (23 points) to 0.

The All-Blacks' Strength.

Apart from the brilliant combination of the backs, the forwards of the visitors were their main strength. Though held well in the loose by the local boys, they nearly always got the ball out of the scrum, and this paved the way to three-quarter movements which so often spelled disaster. Their halves were very clever, though they had no easy task in getting past Shires and Hendra.

The Victoria team handled itself as one of the very strongest the city has ever put into the field. If there was a weakness in the team it was at right wing three-quarter, where Bennett was scarcely up to the mark of the others. Grant was not so conspicuous as usual, being very carefully marked. Martin played a brilliant game throughout, while Hill was also very safe.

F. A. Sparks refereed in a very capable manner. A splendid banquet was tendered the New Zealanders at the Camosun Club last night, officials of the club and the Victoria Rugby Union taking part in the merry making. Speeches of good fellowship and boosts for the grand old game of Rugby were in order, the gathering being a most enjoyable one.

AMATEURS TO HAVE BIG HOCKEY YEAR

Two Leagues Will Draw Up Schedules This Season; Three Senior Clubs

Three teams will comprise the Victoria Hockey Association this winter, the Parliament Buildings having decided to enter a team, which it is thought will compare favorably with the other teams in the league. This will give the local association the Bankers, Y. M. C. A. and Parliament teams to go through the season. The telephone teams and Victoria City have not been heard from, though there is yet a chance that the Helio septette will get into the game again.

It is announced by officers of the Y. M. C. A. team, champions of the City League, that they will have their entire lineup for this season with the exception of Roy Archibald. Coach Small had a big squad at the Arena last night and he looks for another winner. Aubrey Archibald will again captain the Christians, while Joe Kane, Jones, McGee and other members of the title-holders are already in training.

A big fight is looked for in the contest for places on the Clothing team of the Commercial League. The initial practice of this club was held last night, a score or more turning out. Messrs. Spence and Kane will be the backbone of the team, but the Clothiers intend making a big bid for the Commercial championship. One of the pro players will be engaged to coach the team this winter.

The Parliament Buildings Club was organized at a meeting held on Monday evening last. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Sir Richard McBride; honorary vice-presidents, Hon. W. R. Ross and G. H. Dawson; president, F. W. Fraser; secretary-treasurer, W. H. Ricardo; manager, W. Brown; assistant manager, J. E. McInnis; captain, T. R. Griffiths.

J. B. A. A. RUGBY.

The following members of the J. B. A. A. football squad are asked to attend gymnasium practice this evening at 8 o'clock without fail: Ken McDonald, Kenning, Matt Scott, Holyrood, Geo. Dixon, H. Bannerman, Stewart, Dick Steers, Wm. Newcombe, Ed. Tuck, Leo, Sweeney, Frank Sweeney, Wm. Day, Cyril Sedger, Springfield, Chas. Knox, Heilinger, Bob McInnis. Also the intermediates are asked to be on hand and as many others as possible.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Victoria Made a Gallant Stand.

It is no disgrace, to fall before such a wonderful Rugby combination as the All-Blacks, and that the Victoria fifteen did so well against such a noted aggregation of Rugbyists is a big feather in the cap of the local players. The tourists had never met with such stubborn opposition before, and while Victoria did not register a point, they came within an ace of crossing the All-Blacks' line in the second period, and the locals showed up well in the scrum against the formidable New Zealanders and the three-quarters did excellently. The visitors' defence, especially their tackling, was one of the greatest exhibitions ever seen at Oak Bay. The top-added score did not necessarily mar the game, as the All-Blacks' wonderful work took with the crowd. The statement by Manager George Mason made at last night's banquet, that the Victoria team is the best they have yet met, means that British Columbia is not only superior to the California brand, but is also of a higher standard than that of the Australian Union, which sent a team here last year.

Big Leaguers Getting Independent.

Though Dugdale field, at Seattle yesterday afternoon was clear of water and the sun was peeping through the clouds, the White Sox and Giants refused to go through with their scheduled exhibition contest at the Sound city, giving as their excuse that the weather was too cold for baseball. The real reason, however, is that the major league clubs have been making too much money in the south, especially around Frisco, and they do not care whether they play another game or not for the balance of the tour. They have taken in enough money to pay their way round the world and they want to know why they should take any risks in the chilly atmosphere. Something should be done by the National Commission to prevent clubs from failing to keep their exhibition dates. When McGraw telephoned his and informed him that there would be no game. The management of this tour appears to have been about perfect, no guarantees having been given the different club owners that the teams would play, while on the other hand the tourists were guaranteed $1,000, or 80 per cent. of the gross gate, for every game that they took part in.

OFF FOR ORIENT

McGraw Refuses to Discuss Plans for Next Year; Game Postponed at Seattle

Making connection with the Empress of Japan, the Giants and White Sox bade farewell to land last night in the first of their long ocean jumps in their baseball tour of the world. The teams were to have played at Tacoma yesterday morning and in Seattle in the afternoon, but weather conditions made it necessary to call off both fixtures. The teams going on board a special G. T. P. boat which brought them to the capital in record time. The C. P. R. Empress of Japan was held for a couple of hours in order to allow the famous athletes to go aboard. About seventy comprised the party, a number of the players quitting at Seattle, while others joined the party there.

According to Manager John J. McGraw, of the New York Giants, the tour has been an immense success to date. "Of course the expenses of this trip were guaranteed before we left Chicago," said the Little Napoleon, "but we are more than surprised at the manner in which the coast folks supported baseball at this time of the year. We have drawn big crowds even in the smaller towns, and while our games in the Orient and in England will be more of the exhibition variety, I am convinced that we will get big crowds in Australia, Japan and even England." McGraw refused to talk of the plans that he had laid for next season, stating that he wanted to forget league baseball until the tour was over.

Comiskey Confident.
President Comiskey, of the White Sox, could not say too much of the wonderful trip that the teams were having. "It has been my chief ambition in later years to pilot a couple of clubs round the world, and now that my dreams are about to be realized, I am satisfied with the work I have performed for baseball," he said in an interview. "It will be an education for the boys and I feel sure that it will be a great thing for baseball to have teams circle the globe playing exhibition games." With Comiskey were Mr. and Mrs. McAleer, of the Boston Red Sox; Mrs. Comiskey, of Chicago; Mrs. Hugh E. Keogh; Mrs. J. J. Callahan, wife of Jim Callahan, manager of the White Sox; Mrs. Daniel Hardin; William Leahy, passenger agent of the Rock Island system, and a warm personal friend of McGraw's; Col. N. E. McBride, of Chicago, a millionaire merchant of Chicago, who is a great chum of Comiskey's.

Hal Chase, Sam Crawford, Morris Rath, Tris Speaker and Ray Schalk dropped off at Seattle, while the remainder of the party will go right round the world. The team had a nice trip across the Straits and brought with them a couple of mascots. A huge cake which is to be the Thanksgiving "turkey" was also brought along.

RUGBY FAN ASKS FOR NEW OFFICIALS

To the Sporting Editor:—As an admirer of Rugby football and one of many who witnessed the game at Oak Bay, New Zealand v. Victoria, I must certainly congratulate the Rugby Union on their selection of their "Rep. team." With only one exception, namely, that of the right wing three-quarter, it was undoubtedly the finest side that Victoria has ever fielded. But I am sorry to say that the game was marred by the crude method of the referee. His decisions were somewhat bewildering, and I am forced to come to the conclusion that the referee, although, in my opinion, sincere, was unable to control such an important game. The final score certainly did not indicate the relative strength of the two teams. On Saturday next I believe the same teams meet. It is absolutely necessary that a referee should be obtained who understands the rules and has moral courage to enforce them. I witnessed some excellent refereeing last year at Oak Bay. Surely, if any of last year's referees are in town they can be persuaded to officiate. One game in particular, I remember, was very excellently handled. I refer to that of Oak Bay and Wanderers, in which a Mr. Davis was the official. Is Mr. Davis in town? If so, it would be a very good idea to procure him. It would be more ideal to put this to the teams and also from a spectator's point of view.

—Ardron, my responding upon your valuable space, but my only motive is that Victoria should be given the benefit of a competent official.

VAISE PLEASES CALIFORNIA FANS

San Francisco, Nov. 20.—Frenchie Vaise, of Seattle, the Canadian Lightweight champion, Joe O'Connor's latest protegee, and Azevedo boxed what Referee Roby Irwin was pleased to call a ten-round draw in the main event of the bouts held last night at the Oakland Woolmen's Club. The crowd disapproved of the referee's decision, however, and the consensus of opinion was that Vaise should have been called the winner.

"NEW ZEALAND" MATCH.

To the Editor: There is an old saying, "Onlookers see most of the game," but they do not always see the whole of it, and the abuse meted out to the referee and visiting team from several spectators in the grandstand yesterday was a disgrace to Rugby football. I believe it is customary to abuse baseball players, but it is very unfortunate that such practices should emanate from a Rugby football crowd. Mr.

QUEBEC CLUB IS
AFTER B. MORRIS NOW

Kerr Shows Up Well at Victoria Practice; Throop Leaves for Coast

Bernie Morris, the young Moose Jaw centre player, is in demand with the National Hockey Association clubs. Lester Patrick has received a communication from the management of the Quebec club in which the Ancient City septette would like to secure Morris. They have asked the P. C. H. A. to waive on Morris, who is the property of the Coast League under the National Commission rules. There isn't a chance of the Patriks waiving on Morris, as they intend to expand their league next season and will require all the available hockey talent west of the Great Lakes. Nothing further has been heard of the Roman deal, but with Throop assured, and Kerr and Neighbors already on the job, the coast teams are not worrying over Roman and may see their way clear to suspend this player for the winter.

Victoria's latest phenom, in the person of Dubbie Kerr, featured the work-out at the Arena this afternoon. Kerr has not played hockey for two years and will have a hard time getting into shape, but he displayed flashes of his old-time speed that were a revelation to the rail-birds. When Kerr is stepping properly, there is not a forward in the game who can hold him. He has a wonderful shot and will prove a valuable team mate of Tommy Dundardale's. Kerr may be tried out on the defence, where he should develop into another Taylor. He is showing up better in every workout and will be right on edge when they meet the Terminus a week from Friday night.

Manager Patrick reports that there is a steady demand for tickets, and the seat sale for the exhibition game next week will open at Paulin and Rowe's on Tuesday morning.

Eddie Oatman, the crack forward of last year's New Westminster team, has arrived in Vancouver. Eddie looks for a better season than ever before.

Hastings, Ont., Nov. 20. Art Throop, who has signed a Vancouver contract for the winter, left yesterday to join the Patriks in the Coast League. Throop was with the Tecumsehs last year.

VICTORIA ELEVEN
SUGGESTS TWO DATES

Unless Vancouver accepts the dates suggested by the Victoria Football Association, the locals will drop all negotiations with them. The local union has suggested December 13 and 20 for the Vancouver games, with their expense guaranteed. They also want the Terminal eleven to play in the Capital on New Year's Day or the Saturday following. Vancouver is willing to divide the gate, but do not like the idea of a guarantee.

T. Donald, whose request for a transfer came up at a previous meeting, was again set back until his club places the matter before the league. Manager Jack Nansen states that he will have Sheratt back in the game for the match with the Sons of England, while Manager Fletcher, of the latter club is also confident of a win.

INMAN BEATEN

A. F. Peall, who is off the 4,000 mark in the big English billiard tournament now being pulled off in London, handed Melbourne Inman and all close students of the great English indoor pastime a big surprise when he defeated the champion last week by 600 points. The score was Peall (scratches) 4,000, 5,000; Inman (scratches) 3,500. Peall did not break any world's records, but he played consistently all the way through, and his handicap proved to be altogether too large for Inman to pull down.

COMERANGERS DROPPED
BY SOCCER CLUBSTaylor and Peden Suspended
at League Meeting; Games for Saturday

Because of their inability to field a team, the Rangers were dropped from the senior division at last night's meeting of the Victoria and District Football Association. This leaves but five clubs in the senior league, and but two games will be played on Saturday, the Thistles being dropped from the league. Taylor and Peden, the two players who started to fight at the Ward-West game last Saturday, were suspended for one playing date for their conduct, and the league will in the future severely penalize any unsportsmanlike tactics. The schedule of this week's games is as follows:

Senior.
Wards vs. Thistles, Beacon Hill. Referee, Mr. Thomson.
S. O. E. vs. J. B. A. A., Beacon Hill. Referee, Mr. McGuire.

Intermediate.
Wards vs. Wests, North Ward Park. Referee, Mr. Jasper.
Empress vs. Men's Own, Macaulay Point. Referee, Mr. Malbon.

Pandoras vs. Empress, McDonald's Field. Referee, Mr. Doble.
All games will start at 2:30 o'clock.

One-change will be made in the Sons of England eleven to meet the James Bay team at Beacon Hill, Jones replacing Hunt in the nets. The former, who is a city constable, starred on the soccer field five or six years ago, and the Sons think that he will strengthen their defense. The S. O. E. lineup will be as follows: Jones, Hymers, Greenhalgh, Hale, Blandell, Deach, F. Curley, Deneau, Wells, A. Kerley and Douglas.

Ward Team.
The Ward soccer team for Saturday: Bains, Newlands and Thomas; Allen, Davidson, Brown; Wilkie, Nichols, McGregor, Muir and Whittaker. Players are requested to be at Beacon Hill at 2 o'clock.

Men's Own.
The Men's Own team for Saturday: Lock, Ferris, Wiseman, Church, B. Lea, Weight (capt.), Daniels, A. Lea, Erickson, Norman; reserve, Armstrong.

With this I set the fact that this administration has allowed the very choicest sections of our agricultural lands to fall into the hands of those who have no intention of working them, men who are not holding them by the 160 acres or by the 640 acres, which under certain conditions one man may hold, but by the thousands of acres, even by the tens of thousands and hundreds of thousands of acres.

We advertise in the old country, and your friends in the old country receive these advertisements and the literature sent from this side, in which they are given to understand that in this land of promise all you have to do is go out on a piece of land wherever you desire, and get it under cultivation at once, whereas the fact—and we all know it here—is that all the land near the railway lines and the highways of the province, which your money has built, is held by men who have no intention of putting a plough in the soil, but who compel the would-be settler who wants to cultivate it to pay them a high price for the privilege of making use of the land which the Almighty has blessed the people of British Columbia with.

From the budget speech of 1913 Mr. Brewster quoted some significant figures which show the falling off in the home production of farm produce in the last couple of years. In 1911 the value of the live stock bred in the province was $3,648,512, while in 1912 it was $4,486,000. Of dairy products there were produced in the province in 1911 a value of $4,289,462, but in 1912 this had dropped to $2,469,390. Of the meats consumed in 1911 the home products amounted to $743,017, and this fell to $465,795 in 1912. The product of fruits and vegetables in 1911 was $5,084,241, while in 1912 the value was only $2,871,806.

Mr. Brewster went on to point out some of the ways in which the natural assets of the province are being dissipated, and the general mismanagement of provincial affairs by the McBridge government.

A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Brewster was passed on the motion of Mr. Kane, Mayne island, seconded by Mr. Hamilton.

Votes of confidence in the leaders of the Liberal party in the federal arena, and in the province were passed unanimously on the motion of Mr. Munro and Mr. Menzies.

The convention closed with the singing of the National Anthem and cheers for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Brewster, and the candidate.

Captain Eustace D. Maude, of Point Comfort, Mayne island, who was defeated for the Conservative nomination by Mr. Foster by a vote of 37 to 23, has decided to come out as an independent candidate. Yesterday his son went around the islands on the Joan, and posted up at every stop the following notice:

"To the voters of North Saanich and the Islands district:
"I am a candidate for your support at the coming election. My plea for your consideration is that there are men among the seven hundred and sixty electors in this district who are well fitted to present your wishes to the government and take part in framing legislative acts, without calling in the aid of an outsider whose interests might naturally clash with ours.

"I have lived on Mayne island for thirteen years, and if elected can devote my entire time to your interests.
—Eustace Maude."

Capt. Maude is a retired naval officer.

COINCIDENCE IN NAMES.

A gentleman from abroad, staying in one of the Manchester hotels, says the Manchester Guardian, heard imperious knocking at the door of his room early in the morning after his arrival. He opened, and an elderly gentleman in a state of warm emotion rushed in and embraced him tenderly, with affectionate cries of "My son, my son!"

It was heartily touching, but the supposed son was in honesty compelled to deny the relationship. The senior argued the point—"You've been eight years in India, and have just come back. You're Mr. So-and-so."

The real son was in the hotel, however, and had arrived the night before, like his namesake. Even the registration clerks had not imagined it necessary to anticipate a coincidence when they directed the father to the visitor's room.

KAISER'S WHISKEY.

Mr. Carnegie, who came home in the Mauretania yesterday, was in fine spirits, says the Telegraph's New York correspondent, and, as usual, talked gently politics, golf and "My friend the Kaiser."

The reporters congratulated him on looking so juvenile in his seventy-seventh year. "Ah," said he, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "I play golf and take half a glass of good Scotch whiskey with my meals, as the doctor orders," and, with another chuckle, "the German Emperor is drinking it, too, under medical instructions, like me."

Mr. George Grossmith, at the O. P. Club Gaiety dinner, the other night, told several good stories. Here is one: We were called suddenly for rehearsal one day. No one knew why, for the piece had been running for months. Said one of the Gaiety lads: "I suppose George is going to be in front to-night." He was rebuked by the stage manager for speaking so disrespectfully of Mr. Edwards. "Who's talking about Mr. Edwards?" was the retort. "I meant the King."

SPORTING GOSSIP OF THE DAY

We had the big leaguers with us last night for a minute.

That All-Blacks' half line surely knows how to pass the ball.

Rugby has a strong hold in the capital, judging by yesterday's crowd.

This fellow McGraw talks a lot about the other teams.

Eddie Gleason stopped over in Seattle a couple of days to avoid running into the gang returning on the Prince Rupert.

Victoria had but one chance to score yesterday in the second half, but lacked the punch to go over.

Three clubs are fighting it out for the Scottish league title in the Old Country.

Only two senior games will be played in the first division on Saturday afternoon.

Victoria Wests simply smile at the statements that the Sons of England will beat them a week from Saturday.

Walter Small again promises to place a strong septette in the City Hockey league for the T. M. C. A.

It would be a shame for the James Bay eleven to beat the Wards and settle all doubts as to the city soccer title Saturday.

Skinner Poulin missed his trip to Seattle yesterday and now he is thankful that he did not go.

Quite a number of Victoria ball players are working in Seattle this winter.

An American gentleman was enjoying the excitement of a bear hunt down in Mississippi. The bear was surrounded in a small cane thicket. The dogs could not get the bear out, and the planter who was at the head of the hunt called to one of the negroes—“Sam, go in there and get that bear out!” The negro hesitated for a moment and then plunged into the cane. A few moments later the negro, the bear, and the dogs were rolling upon the ground outside. After the hunt was over the visitor said to the negro—“Were you not afraid to go into that thicket after that bear?” “Cap’n,” replied the negro, “it was just dis way; I never had met dat bear, but I was personally acquainted wid de old boss, so I jes’ naturally took de bear.”

WED LAST EVENING

Marriage of Mr. Andrew A. Meharry and Miss Ethel Logan Celebrated. Will Reside Here.

A home wedding was celebrated last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 97 Cook street, when Ethel, the youngest daughter of Captain and Mrs. W. H. Logan, became the bride of Andrew A. Meharry, son of Mrs. D. Meharry, of Victoria. The arrangements were exceedingly pretty and charming, the house being a veritable bower of roses and yellow chrysanthemums and carnations, and the bride and groom standing in an alcove of palms during the ceremony. This was performed by Rev. Dr. Clay, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in the presence of a circle of the intimate friends of the two families.

Given away by her father, the bride was beautiful in shimmering ivory satin with let-in panels of real lace, the bodice and sleeves being trimmed with pearls, and the skirt finishing in a short puffed train. Her veil of silk-embroidered net was arranged cap-style under a wreath of orange-blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Flora Gow, of Seattle, who wore pale blue crepe de chine with overdress of shadow lace, made a charming bridesmaid.

Mr. Aubrey Archibald acted as best man.

The bride's mother wore a very graceful gown of gray satin. During the ceremony Mr. Jesse Longfield presided at the piano, and played the wedding marches by Mendelssohn and Wagner, while Mrs. Longfield contributed some beautiful vocal numbers. Late in the evening, following the short reception during which the guests partook of a dainty wedding supper, on buffet, the happy pair, who were the recipients of numerous congratulatory messages and greetings, left by the night boat for Vancouver, whence they will proceed to Seattle, San Francisco, and Santiago, to return in about a fortnight's time to take up their residence on Point street.

The bridegroom's gifts were to the bride: diamond, pearl and amethyst pin; to the best man, gold cuff links; to the bride, pearl and peridot pendant.

ALBERTA OIL POSSIBILITIES

The View of the Geological Survey is Hopeful; Stock Selling Condemned.

The Calgary Herald continues to urge its readers to beware of the oil companies, who seem to be as optimistic in the future of Alberta as a productive oil field, but with less reason, than real estate men have been in future values of city and suburban lots in western cities. "It is now evident," says the Herald, "that diligent work must be done before the Alberta oil fields are fully proved. The Dominion geological survey has just issued a report based on the examination of its own expert. It points out that white oils such as that which has been found in the Dingman well are rarely found in quantity. They would appear to be the result of filtration through clay strata, and that this has occurred in the present instance is made probable by the flow of gasoline at a higher horizon."

"The government's report goes on to say: 'The amount of oil present has not yet been determined, so that the commercial value of the strike is still unproved.' It expresses the hope that the present instance will prove exceptional in this respect. The report further points out that eastward from the Dingman well the covering over any anticline that may exist will rapidly thicken, while westwards the formation is much broken up. This agrees with the published opinion of Cunningham Craig to the effect that the anticlines are narrow, and properlies a few miles off them might as well be hundreds of miles away for all the good they will be. At the same time, the report gives good bases for faith in the field by pointing out that these white oils are usually found only in the vicinity of large bodies of the ordinary petroleum."

Judged by government and expert reports, is as yet undefined, though it assuredly exists. The white oil so far found is of an exceptionally pure quality, but the district will take diligent and careful developing before the boundaries or size of the oil area can be determined.

"This is no fair proposition on which to float all kinds of oil companies at present. The companies now being promoted in Calgary should refrain from their flotations until something more is known of the field. This is no year for gambling. Calgary people will need their money for their ordinary domestic purposes. Advertisements and show windows that seek to give the impression that a poor man can invest a few dollars and have the practical certainty of making a fortune are nothing less than dishonest."

The Times has been informed that Dr. C. E. Weaver, professor of geology in the University of California, recently reported to English capitalists, that there were good prospects for discovering oil on North Pender Island, B. C., but is not in a position to verify the statement. The same authority says that E. H. Cunningham Craig, who has a mission from the British government to investigate the probable oil resources of various parts of the empire, would examine the North Pender Island district while in the west. There are indications of oil in many parts of British Columbia and a good deal of money has been expended in boring at different points on the coast and in the interior, but thus far without success.

MARYBELL AND THE STEW.

The governess had given little Tim a simple problem in addition that he failed to work out, says the Liverpool Post. "Numbers are dry," she reasoned with herself, and determined to make the lesson more interesting. "Suppose," she began engagingly, "your mamma sent you to the store to buy three pounds of lamb, two pounds of potatoes, half a pound each of carrots and turnips, and one pound of tomatoes, what would you have then?" Tim shook his head, but Marybell, only a year older, raised an eager hand. "Well, Marybell?" said the teacher, with a sorrowful glance at little Tim. "Stew!" said Marybell sweetly.

Y. W. C. A. SALE DRAWS

Bazaar Held Yesterday Afternoon and Evening Was Popular and Profitable; Entertainment Postponed.

Owing to the excellent position of the building, the wide interest taken by the public in the work of the institution, and the really careful preparation made for the event by advertising it among the friends of the association, the bazaar and sale of work held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Y. W. C. A. was a great success. Although the rooms are all very large, crowds eddied round the various stalls from the moment that the proceedings opened until the last quarter of an hour when the booths were almost desolated of their exhibits.

The various tables were most attractively arranged, and that in charge of Mrs. Leiser and the Misses Leiser, who sold plain and fancy sewing from a large stall which spanned the entire end of the room, was one of the most profitable. In the same room, at the opposite end, the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, I. O. D. E., under Mrs. L. H. Hardie, assisted by the Misses Brompton, Miss Jessie Gordon, Miss McEachern, Miss Grace Cameron, Miss May Brown, Miss Mabel Cameron and Miss Kathleen Roberts, provided a wide choice of home-made cookery, everything from a plum-pudding to salted almonds and bottled fruit and pickles having been contributed by members of the chapter.

Just on entering the door the visitor was confronted with a most appetizing array of home-made sweets, this being in charge of Mrs. Nivn, assisted by Miss Vaughan and Miss Adams. Sales here were good, and Mrs. Kingham, at her stand across the hall, was kept busy hooking on various-sized parcels. "Mother Goose," picturesque in high-pointed hat and gay shawl, proved a great draw with her goose, the ladies who assisted in the respective roles being Miss Hamilton and Miss Rye. The table of plants and flowers contained, amid the vases of yellow, white and bronze chrysanthemums, a beautiful basket of salmon-pink roses grown in an Esquimaux garden. Mrs. Furnace and Mrs. Hasell having charge of this department.

Delicious tea, served upstairs under the direction of Miss Agnes Spencer, drew crowds during the entire afternoon, the receipts there being excellent.

The programme provided in both the afternoon and evening was most attractive. Mrs. D. C. Reed, vocalist; Miss Kathleen Little, violinist; and Mr. Ross, tenor, provided the afternoon programme, and the following assisting in the vocal and instrumental numbers in the evening: Mr. Dunford, Miss Lundy and Miss Roberts. The feature of the latter entertainment was the illustrated recitation by Miss Maude Scott, who repeated the "Dream of Fair Women" given by her there some weeks ago. Mr. Pocock made a finished accompanist for the afternoon concert, and Miss Hasell for the evening entertainment.

As a result of the sale a sum estimated roughly as in the neighborhood of $250 was taken for the Y. W. C. A. funds.

WON A MEDAL

R. W. McKnight Wins Honor at International Window-Dressing Contest at Chicago.

Being one of the only two Canadians who won a place at the recent international window-dressing contest at Chicago, promoted by the publication, "Merchants' Record and Show Window," of Chicago, R. W. McKnight, who is with the Fit-Rite Clothing Parlor, of this city, has achieved an unusual honor. He secured the bronze medal third prize, in the clothing class, known as B class, at the show. As there were 311 other entrants from many parts of this continent, England, Ireland, Scotland, Germany, Belgium, France, Sweden, Austria, Japan, Australia and New Zealand, the award of the judges is particularly gratifying to him.

The window of which he sent a photograph to the contest was the one he prepared at the Fit-Rite store for the contest during the carnival last August. It will be remembered by many Victorians as being very attractive. Curiously enough, the carnival judges did not hold that Mr. McKnight's window was worthy of a prize, as all three awards went to other stores.

The other Canadian who won a place was J. A. McNabb, of Richard Hall & Son, Peterboro, who was awarded a special medal of honor.

GOGORZA EMINENTLY
DRAMATIC SINGER

Baritone Captivated His Audience With Exhibition of Vocal Histrionics

When one pronounces a singer "best" in some particular song, it is not the intention of the critic by this to condemn the vocalist's other efforts. The comparison is to himself. So the prolonged and appreciative applause which burst from the audience last evening at the Victoria theatre following the first three numbers sung by Gogorza was a sufficient expression of their recognition of the leading place to which these numbers were entitled in point of criticism.

The first, a humorously pathetic plantation song by Homer, "Uncle Remi," was exquisite. In two verses the listeners were swept from laughter to the verge of tears. Then came the rippling La Partida, a Spanish air by Alvarez, Enunciation and technique of voice were perfect, but they were hardly needed by the singer so vividly did he color the song with the sentiment of the thought. His histrionic and dramatic temperament rioted forth in a new light in the diabolical "Serenade de Mephistopheles" by Berlioz, the last number on the programme.

In all these the best features of Gogorza's voice were revealed in their highest perfection, while his emotional and dramatic temperament also had an outlet which the more classic works concealed.

Other numbers which particularly pleased were Schumann's "Widmung," with its tuneful refrain; the stately Trivoltus, by Hoffa; the magnificently dramatic "J'ai pleure en reves," in which the singer introduced some exquisite "lento" phrases; the laughing Debussy melody, "Mandoline," interpreted by Gogorza to mean something suggestive of fawns and forests; and the impressive Gluck aria, "Do noire presentiments," which some of the audience interrupted by badly-timed applause. An unfamiliar Beethoven composition, "Lockruf," was one of the most pleasing of his early numbers, and a repetition would have been welcome to most of his hearers, who were nevertheless charmed with those ex-come-gone, which included the beautiful "Mother of Mine," and, at the last, the Treador Song from Bizet's Carmen.

At the piano Mr. Henry Gilles made a sympathetic and self-effacing accompanist, and when he became soloist, a brilliant performer.

PARABLE OF THE RICH MAN.

The Rich Man died, and found himself in a luxurious smoking room. He touched the bell, and a perfectly-trained flunky brought him a wonderful cigar and the most delicious white wine he had ever tasted. He lazily noticed that the room had no windows, and he thought he would like a little fresh air. He passed into the next and equally magnificent room, and there, too, he found no windows.

By now he had a distinct desire for the open. In the third room also there were no windows. He began to walk faster. He wanted to see a cloud, although never in his life had he experienced such a desire. He started to run through rooms and rooms; there was no end to them. He grew frantic, and rushed headlong, as it seemed to him, for miles. At last he sank exhausted into a seat in a room papered in pale green, and hung with oil paintings by Royal Academicians, framed in costly gold.

He rang an electric bell feverishly. Another perfect waiter appeared. "I want to go into the garden. Show me the way, quick." "Sorry, sir, but it's against orders," was the respectful answer. "Against orders? What, isn't this Heaven?" "No, sir,"—Loval Fraser in the Cambridge Magazine.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERS MUNICIPAL BILL

Board of Trade Meeting, December 11, Will Hear Findings of Special Body

A special committee of the Board of Trade, consisting of J. L. Beckwith, Lindley Crease, K.C., R. T. Elliott, K.C., J. S. Floyd, and M. B. Jackson, is engaged in a study of the bill in respect to municipalities which was presented during last session of the legislature. The bill is to be dealt with also at the coming session.

It is expected that the committee will have its work sufficiently advanced to present at the next monthly general meeting of the board, scheduled to take place on Thursday, December 11.

A careful consideration of all the clauses is being conducted by the committee, and any points that might in their opinion be amended will be reported upon, while they will also set forth any new points they may think should be embodied therein.

This special committee was appointed in April last, and their views are therefore expected to be the result of mature consideration.

Another matter which is to be thoroughly dealt with at the general meeting is the daylight saving question. The proposal is to save daylight by putting the clock forward one hour in advance of Pacific coast time for a period of each year.

When this question came before the council of the board the principle involved was unanimously approved, but it was thought advisable to have the views of the full board. The question opens a large field for discussion, pro and con.

MARKED THEIR ESTEEM.

Employees of B. C. Cannery Company Made Presentation to Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McTavish.

A pleasing event took place at the Rivers Inlet cannery, of the B. C. Cannery Company, on November 13, when the employees of the cannery and sawmill presented their retiring manager, G. S. McTavish, with a handsome solid silver service, consisting of tea and coffee pot, sugar bowl and cream jug. Mr. McTavish is retiring from the cannery business after a period of twenty-one years' service with the B. C. Cannery Company, during which time he has become one of the best known figures on the British Columbia northern coast, and has established himself in the hearts of a host of friends. The presentation was made by Mr. McPhee, manager of the sawmill. The address read as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. McTavish:

"We, the employees of the B. C. Cannery Company, have assembled here together this afternoon for the purpose of bidding you farewell. In doing so we wish to present you with a small gift as token of remembrance.

"We sincerely hope that all your undertakings will be as successful in the future as they have been in the past and that you will live to enjoy a long life of prosperity, good health and happiness."

Mr. McTavish was visibly affected by the appreciative gift of his fellow-workers, and thanked them most warmly for their affectionate token of regard and remembrance, stating that the occasion would ever be remembered by him as the crowning happiness of his life.

Mr. and Mrs. McTavish have returned to reside in their Victoria home, Owee-kay-no, Lampson street. The delightful hospitality of their northern home, in which Mrs. McTavish made an ideal hostess, will be long remembered by many.

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers

Red Nose.—The nose is a more delicate organ than most people imagine. It should be touched as little as possible. For undue redness the treatment recommended in following paragraph will be found effective. Apply without rubbing.

Muddy Skin.—The sanest, safest and surest method of giving a clear, healthy, transparent appearance to the complexion is to apply ordinary mercorized wax every night for from one to two weeks. This wax, obtainable at any drug store (one ounce is sufficient), actually takes off a bad complexion by gently and gradually absorbing the thin veil of surface skin. The new skin then in evidence is as fresh and velvety as a young girl's. The wax is applied like cold cream and washed off morning.

Wrinkles.—A harmless lotion made as follows has been found very effective in cases of wrinkles and crow's-feet: Powdered saffron, 1 oz. dissolved in witch hazel, 4 pt. Bathe the face in this daily for awhile.—Woman's Realm.

Meals on Train—Sleeping Car Berth. Everything provided for land and ocean journey by Claude A. Solly's Xmas Excursion to Europe, leaving Dec. 7.

Land Reform Proposals In Country and Town

By Arthur Scaife, J. P.

London, Nov. 1.—The gist of the proposals set forth in the scheme of land reform at Swindon is the reclamation of those vast areas which once maintained a hardy and industrious population, but which have been gradually denuded of their inhabitants and set aside for the preservation of deer and other game. It is claimed, and with reason, that the old time crofters have been again brought in to the land, and that the question is, how is the land to be obtained for this purpose. There are two alternatives, either the landholders throw open their lands to the small holders, or the land must be purchased from them.

Lately the Duke of Sutherland has come forward with an offer to sell 200,000 acres now reserved for deer at the price of 42 per acre. At first sight this looks a sound proposition, and the satisfaction of the Duke on all sides is evident at what is termed, colloquially, "one in the eye for Lord George." A closer survey of the offer, however, reveals it as a horse of a different color. Instead of appearing in the light of a generous benefactor the Duke of Sutherland is shown as one who is attempting to make "a nice little bit out of the side." Before the scheme of land reform was brought forward this land which the Duke now offers for sale was considered as of no agricultural value. The owner regarded it as more or less waste land, only fit for the upkeep of deer. When, however, the Chancellor had outlined his scheme of reclamation and afforestation, the Duke very astutely saw a chance of unloading a fair proportion of his holding at an enhanced price. The offer comprises 200,000 acres of the average land which is known as deer forest in the north of Scotland, the deer foresting the land. Of this land there are now approximately three and a half million acres. These are entered on the county valuation rolls at an average value of 5d. per acre, and are rated on this basis. Assuming that this is a fair valuation and that an equitable selling price would be twenty years purchase, it will be seen that the land which the Duke so kindly proposes to sell at 42 per acre is worth exactly 15s. The proposed bargain stands, then, as follows:

The Duke disposes of 200,000 acres at 42 per acre..... £400,000
Present selling value at 15s. per acre..... 150,000

Profit on the transaction..... £250,000
This it will be seen that a profit of a quarter of a million would go to a single landlord as the first fruits of the policy of expropriation by purchase. Assuming that the whole of the area under deer in the north of Scotland were purchased on the same basis, the transaction would work out as follows:

2,500,000 acres at 42 per acre..... £1,050,000
Present selling value at 15s. per acre..... 2,250,000

Profit on the transaction..... £2,250,000

It appears, therefore, that this method of dealing would prove a very costly one. On the assumption that it is to be a machinery of the landowners in the highlands of Scotland and that it does not seem either fair or equitable that this premium should be paid to induce them to relax their grip on the soil. It is also apparent that if this precedent be established it cannot be confined to the rural districts of Scotland.

On the basis of a purchase valuation of 5d. per acre the price asked by the Duke of Sutherland represents a fifty years purchase. One can easily foresee that at this rate the scheme of small holding and resettling the people of the land would become impossible. The offer of the Duke, if it is seriously intended and is made to the right quarters, will receive the careful attention of the development commissioners, and it is certain that they will know how to deal with it in a business way. If the offer is refused it is equally sure that the Tories will make a tremendous hullabaloo, saying that the land reform scheme was nothing but a ruse to bring down the Duke of Sutherland from his throne. Let them say what they will, the time will come when the landowners will have to fall into line and part with their preserves at the price put upon them by the government valuers.

Judging from the address delivered by Mr. Lloyd George to the deputation from the Town Tenants League the conditions under which leases are granted in the towns are as arbitrary and insecure as those under which the farmers are suffering. The land in this country is endowed with the most automatic powers. He has the right to serve notice to quit upon the unfortunate tenant irrespective of the state of his business or of the effect of the eviction. A tradesman may have spent a year's work in building up a business, have struggled against all manner of competition, and the hundred and one obstacles which confront a man when setting up on his own; then when he is making headway, when the fruits of his labor are being returned to him, for some often purely arbitrary reason he is given a year's notice.

It is not often, happily, that a landlord turns a man out without some cause. It more often is the case that the landlord, seeing that the tenant's business is increasing, chooses some small pretext for widening or improving the premises as a ground for raising the rent, the increase in a great many instances eating up the expected profit. The worst of the trouble lies in the fact that the tenant has no appeal. The landlord is absolutely unanswerable, and is supported by law in enforcing his demands no matter how extortionate they may be. There is much to be changed before we arrive at an equitable state of affairs wherein the law shall be on the side of the man who is striving to increase his business rather than with him who for the sake of mere gain hampers, and in a great many cases puts clear out of the running the industrious but small trader. It is impossible for a man to do his best work unless he has security of tenure. He takes a house, but unless he is certain that he will live in it for a certain definite period he does not care to invest in it. He does not make his dwelling habitable. Equally a man on taking a farm, or a business must have security of tenure before he can put his best work into it.

Mr. Lloyd George has been called many things—dreamer, demagogue, sincere and unsincere (Mr. Bonar Law has dubbed him "The little brother of the poor") but in laying bare the injustice of the present system of landlordism he is doing the very best possible for the welfare of the people. There is much truth in the belief that a man shall be allowed to do what he likes with his own. But there is more in the maxim that the individual good must be merged in the general welfare, and it is certain that the interests of the small shopkeepers are of greater importance to the country as a whole than the enrichment of a few landlords.

The most trying condition of the present law lies in the fact that when the tenant has, through his own enterprise and energy, increased his business, and so enhanced the value of the property, the landlord at the first opportunity increases the rent on the basis of the increased value though the increase would not have arisen except for the tenant. In fact the energy and enterprise of the tenant are used as a lever to force him to pay more in order that he may hold onto that which he has created. The just condition would be that whatever is contributed by the tenant to the value of increase of business or development of the soil should accrue to him alone.

In his speech on land reform the Chancellor outlined the establishment of a court of appeal, comprised of men who could be relied upon to give a fair and disinterested judgment on all questions brought before them appertaining to the conditions of tenure both for farmers and town tenants. This question is one which admits of very searching criticism; there are bad and good tenants every bit as much as there are bad and good landlords, each must be safeguarded before a truly just condition can be obtained. The prevailing condition is, however, vastly favorable to the extortionate landlord and in many cases grossly unfair to the honest and industrious tenant.

No scheme of reform for the alleviation of the majority of the people can have any real hope of doing permanent good unless it is built upon the basic principle that the "earth and the fruits thereof" are for the use and benefit of the community and are not created for exploitation by the lucky few.

WOMEN TOOK KNITTING AND LUNCH TO COURT

Everett, Wash., Nov. 20.—Women were knitting and embroidering in the superior court yesterday morning when the case of Wallace R. Schrader, accused of killing his wife, was called for trial. The court-room contained many women who had brought lunch baskets, and several had their fancy work.

Schrader is alleged to have slain his wife, Emma Schrader, in this city September 18 last. Since his confinement in the county jail the mill watchman has exhibited signs of insanity, though whether feigned or real is not known.

Men! Try this sham- poo for dandruff

Makes the scalp feel fine

First, rub the scalp with the tips of your fingers. Then apply the sham-poo. It is a rich, thick, lather of Woodbury's scalp soap and rub it in. Now wash in cool water, having the final water really cold. Rub again with the finger tips till the hair is dry.

Woodbury's Scalp Soap is the work of an expert on the scalp and hair. This treatment with it loosens the dandruff and dead skin, cleanses the little pores at the base of each hair and restores them to their natural, healthy action. The oil from these pores then goes into the hair, and gives it that glossy, sleek, and shining appearance. The dandruff and accompanying itching disappear and the scalp feels delightfully clean and alive.

Try it. Get a cake of Woodbury's today. Woodbury's Scalp Soap costs 25c a cake. No one hesitates at the price after their first cake.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Canada lost a devoted friend just half a century ago to-day, when James Bruce, Earl of Elgin and Kincardine, died in India, where he had gone as viceroy after a brilliant career as governor-general of Canada. When he came to Canada in 1866 he was still a young man, whose administrative experience was confined to the governorship of Jamaica. He had just been married to a daughter of Lord Durham, one of the greatest executives the mother-country ever sent to British America, and this served as a favorable introduction to Canadians. Everywhere the people greeted Lord Elgin with great enthusiasm. In his keynote address at Montreal he told Canadians what might be expected of his administration: "I am sensible that I shall best maintain the prerogative of the crown, and most effectually carry out the instructions with which Her Majesty has honored me, by manifesting a due regard for the wishes and feelings of the people and by seeking the advice and assistance of those who enjoy their confidence." The young governor-general displayed remarkable ability and tact in picking up the tangled threads of Canadian affairs and in inaugurating policies and measures that were to pave the way for the Dominion that was to be.

November 20 is the birthday of Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at St. Lin, P. Q., son of Hon. Francis Louisworth Haszard, Prince Edward Island statesman, 1840; and of Dr. Thomas Stephen Cullen, eminent American surgeon, at Bridgewater, Ont., (son of Rev. Thomas Cullen), 1848.

In the graveyard at Sackville, New Brunswick, is a monument in memory of Charles F. Allison, who died on November 20, 1884. He was an ardent Methodist, and the founder of Mount Allison University at Sackville, for in 1839—the centenary year of the founding of Methodism by the great preacher, John Wesley—he proposed "to the British conference and the Wesleyan missionaries in the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to purchase an eligible site and erect suitable buildings in Sackville for a school. In which not only the elementary but the higher branches of education might be taught, and which might be altogether under the management and control of the British conference in connection with the Wesleyan missionaries in these provinces." He added that if his offer should be accepted he would begin his preparations for building at once, and that as a further inducement he would give one hundred pounds annually for the school. He lived long enough to see the noble institution founded by his magnificence occupying a high position and exercising a wide and salutary influence.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

The Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the "silver-tongued" leader of Canadian Liberalism, will to-day pass the three-score-and-twelve milestone. It was in the little village of St. Lin, near Montreal, that the future prime minister of a dominion yet unborn made his premiere on the stage of life, seventy-two years ago to-day. His birth was almost coincident with the union of Upper and Lower Canada, the first step toward that confederation of the provinces in which Wilfrid Laurier was destined for the role of political leader. When Sir Wilfrid was born Canada was just beginning the struggle for responsible government. The era of railroad building had not yet set in. The west, now a rich granary supporting populous cities, was the habitation of the Indian and the buffalo, considered worthless for any purpose except hunting and trapping. The discovery of gold in British Columbia, which sent the California Argonauts rushing northward, was still in the future. Canada slept, and scarcely dreamed of her glorious opportunities.

The future premier and Liberal leader was educated at McGill University and studied law with the late Hon. R. Lafamme, Q. C. Soon after the confederation of the Dominion of Canada was formed, and in 1871 he began his public career as a member of the Quebec provincial assembly. Three years later the young French-Canadian was elected to the federal assembly, where he soon became known as "Silver-tongued Laurier." He became a truly national figure in 1877, when he was given a portfolio in the Mackenzie government. In the general elections of 1878, when the Mackenzie ministry fell and Sir John Macdonald was returned to power, Laurier was defeated, but was immediately afterwards elected for Quebec East. In 1891, on the retirement of Mr. Blake, he assumed the Liberal leadership, which he has ever since retained. In 1896 his party was successful at the polls, and Mr. Laurier became the first French-Canadian prime minister of Canada. He was knighted the following year, and continued as premier until his party was defeated, on the reciprocity issue, in 1911.

Arthur Guiterman, who is said to be one of the very few twentieth century poets who make a living out of poetry, was born in Vienna, Austria, forty-two years ago to-day. His parents were Americans, and the poet was educated in the public schools and the College of the City of New York. At the age of twenty he began to write ballads, lyric verse and short stories for newspapers and magazines, but for several years he derived his principal income from editorial work on the Woman's Home Companion, the Literary Digest and other periodicals. The first volume with his name on the title page bore the title of "Petel Nuts," and was published in 1907. This was followed by "The Guest Book," an edition of the "Rubaiyat," including "The Literary Omar," and "Orestes," in which he collaborated with Andre Tridon.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the United States judge who imposed the famous $25,000 fine on the Standard Oil company, was born at Milville, O., forty-seven years ago to-day. Before his elevation to the bench he was a corporation lawyer in Chicago, and was attorney for the Grand Trunk, the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, and other railways. When he donned the ermine he apparently forgot his former affiliations, and many great railway and industrial companies soon had cause to regret his elevation to the bench.

FIRST THINGS

The first train to run west of Chicago made its initial trip over the Galena & Chicago Union railway 70 years ago to-day, November 20, 1843. This infant railway was only ten miles long, and its western terminus is now in a thickly populated section. The train was drawn by a locomotive appropriately called the Pioneer, and this quaint and antiquated little engine is still to be seen in a Chicago museum. Chicago's history as a grain centre may be said to have begun with the first trip of the Pioneer, for the first eastward trip it brought to the city several bags of wheat, which had been unloaded from a farm wagon into the crude car. Some days later Chicago received its first rail shipment of live stock, a load of hogs drawn into the infant city, now

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND COSTIVE!—CASCARETS

Sick Headache or Sour Stomach Means Sluggish Liver and Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now. Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sour and ferment like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental rars, everything that's horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give you constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

moored his boat in the harbor. Yesterday late in the day George Murray and Joseph Griffin found a boat half submerged in the harbor and towed it to shore. This morning they went back to their find in order to bail it out and staunch it. When they had done so they were horrified to find in the cabin of the craft the dead body of Elliott, who is well known along the water front. The police were called and Sergeant Harper went over to where the men had the boat and had the body removed to an undertaker.

Elliott had gone to sleep in his boat, probably on Tuesday night, and during the high wind of that night the boat appears to have drifted from its moorings and in the tossing about a hole was stove in it by a floating log or some other obstruction. Through this the boat filled to the gunwales, and was floating about in that fashion when it was found.

Elliott was a man of middle age and had no relatives here so far as is known by the police. He had been residing here for many years and fished in the waters about the southern end of the island.

The body of W. Smith, harbor Pandora avenue, who has been missing for a month, was found floating in the inner harbor this morning. It was about midway between the city and the reserve opposite the Hudson's Bay wharf, and bore evidence of having been in the water for a long time. Smith had not been in good health for some time, and one evening he left home telling his mother that he would be back in a few minutes, from that time all trace of him has been lost. From statements he had made it was feared that he had made away with himself, and the harbor was dragged two or three times in the hope that his body might be recovered.

Both bodies are at the undertaking parlors of Hanna & Thomson, and the coroner will hold inquests to-morrow.

MINING SUIT ENTERED

Important Case Soon to Be Heard in Supreme Court: Trimble vs. Oppenheimer.

What promises to be a most important mining suit will shortly come on in the Supreme Court here for hearing.

The plaintiff is Raleigh P. Trimble, a prominent lawyer of Portland, Oregon, back of whom are several Victorians and other British Columbia mining men, who hold an interest in what is said to be one of the richest copper mines yet discovered in the province, situated near Hazelton.

The defendants are J. E. Oppenheimer, a mining capitalist of Butte, Montana, and the directors of the Boulder Copper Company. This morning in chambers M. B. Jackson obtained an order from Mr. Justice Murphy for service of the defendants out of the jurisdiction.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that Oppenheimer and his associates have been so handling the property as to depreciate its value for the time and hinder him, the British Columbia discoverer and part-owner of the property, to the end that the defendants may enjoy the sole profits from the very valuable copper deposits on it.

Oppenheimer and those associated with him were induced to invest in the property in order to get it developed, and organized the Boulder Copper Company in Arizona, Oppenheimer holding the controlling interest in this.

This company, through the defendants in the present suit, leased the property to the Continental Development Company, in which Oppenheimer is the controlling power, and it is alleged by the plaintiff that the lease is on such terms as will result in his interests being destroyed. He enters suit and asks for the cancellation of the lease in question, for the removal of the directors who granted it and for the appointing of a receiver in their place.

Some reminiscences were published recently from the pen of Herr Hoffmann, who edited the Hamburger Nachrichten at the time when Bismarck—driven from office—used that paper as the chief exponent of his views.

The veteran journalist reproduces an eloquent vindication uttered by the ex-Chancellor for his attitude in the negotiations which culminated in the Franco-German war.

"Is it fair to blame me," he said, "even if I did actually provoke a war with France, seeing that such a conflict was a necessary factor in the unification of Germany?"

The North and the South would never have thoroughly fused but for the blood they split in common fighting the enemy. Cavour never heated to provoke a European war if it seemed likely to help the cause of Italian unity, or a German critic has ever blamed him for doing so. . . . I did no more than Cavour, whose personal integrity has never been attacked. Any nation may find itself in a position where war is essential to its vitality."

WOODSMAN SUES FOR THE LOSS OF A LEG

Westholme Lumber Company Asked to Pay Heavy Damages to Camp Employee

Mr. Justice Murphy and a special jury, of which A. M. Bannerman is foreman, are to-day hearing the action brought by Harry Johnson against the Westholme Lumber Company.

Johnson claims damages for the loss of his leg while in the service of the company in its limits at Westholme. He is a bright young Swede, a railway employee in his native land, who has been in this country for three years past.

W. J. Taylor, K.C., and Fred C. Elliott are acting for the plaintiff and H. A. Maclean, K.C., for the company. The defence is that the company is not responsible for the injury sustained by Johnson, on the ground that he was riding on the car on which he was at the time of the accident at his own risk.

During the forenoon the greater part of the plaintiff's case was heard, and this afternoon the defence is putting in its case.

Johnson said the accident had happened on February 21 last. He had been in the woods all day and was returning to the bunk-house in the late afternoon on a handcar. There were eleven men on the car at the time and the man at the brake was Lloyd, the donkey engineer. Joe Carone, the bush foreman, was also on the car, and one of the men had asked him to take the brake instead of Lloyd, who was thought to be too reckless. There had been previous complaints about Lloyd's manner of running the car. At the time of the accident it was running downhill at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour. Just before it occurred he heard Carone cry out to Lloyd to put on the brakes. He felt the back of the car rise up, then heard the wheels striking the ties, and he was pitched off in front of the car. He was caught between the car and a big stump, and was so badly injured that he had to be taken to Duncan hospital, where part of his right leg had been amputated.

He spent several weeks in hospital and received bills for $125.52 from the hospital and $75 from the surgeon. Previous to the accident he had been earning $3.75 a day—slinging rigging.

To his lordship the plaintiff said the car was brought up to the woods each night to bring the men down and was used for no other purpose.

George V. Spang stated that it was to the company's benefit to have the men come down by the car, as the men were able to put in a half hour longer in the woods every day.

Spang said he was injured in the accident and was in the hospital for eight days.

Provincial Constable John A. Chisholm, stationed at Westholme in February, examined the track next morning, and the rails were found. Looking down the track he saw a small piece of iron projecting from the rail. The projection was a bit of iron used to fasten the rails together.

Axel Gustavsson gave measurements which he made at the scene of the accident two days after. The constant rubbing of heavy logging trains had forced the rails down the hill, and at the point of accident there was a space of five inches between two rails into which a piece of iron had been fitted. This was loose, and moved from side to side.

Properly placed, it was stated that the car was quite safe.

COW-STEALING CHARGED.

Jury is Hearing Evidence in Case of Thomas Alexander, Who Drove Animal Home From Sale.

The last case to be heard at the present sittings began yesterday afternoon and is still before the jury. It is that in which Thomas Alexander is charged with having stolen from the fair grounds a cow which had been offered for sale at a government sale of imported dairy stock. H. W. R. Moore is acting for the crown and the prisoner is being defended by R. C. Lowe.

Yesterday afternoon the crown case was put in, showing that the accused had bought one cow at the sale and had some dispute with the auctioneer about another. Following the sale he went to the fair grounds and drove away not only the cow which he had bought but the other one as well, and this was found on his farm when it was missed and search instituted.

The defence as outlined to-day by Mr. Lowe and testified by defendant, his daughter and other witnesses was that Alexander, who had purchased one cow, had a disagreement with the auctioneer about the other. He thought this had been covered by the number and he made out a cheque for $22, the sum which he thought it had been knocked down to him at. The auctioneer had gone and he was not able to hand him this cheque. Next day he went for the cow he purchased and saw the other one which he thought was his running around the water-trough. He took them home quite openly and put his brand on them.

One of the witnesses told the jury that it was a very difficult thing to identify cattle in the dusk or dark. He said he had a great deal of experience and even then found it hard to tell one animal from another at night. If he saw an animal under these circumstances that looked like his he would take it if he thought it was his own. This led the judge to remark that if he did that sort of thing he would probably find himself in jail.

Evidence as to the character of the prisoner was given by several witnesses.

This afternoon the jury went out to the fair grounds in order to have a view of the place where the cows were taken from, as there is a difference between the crown and defence witnesses as to whether it can be seen from the outside.

CONSULTING ENGINEER

CAME TO CITY TO-DAY

Wynn Meredith Met Mayor and Water Commissioner; Council Meeting Friday

Consulting Engineer Wynn Meredith arrived in the city this morning looking well in spite of his recent illness, although he has lost weight as a result of the operation recently performed.

He called on the mayor and water commissioner, and consulted with them with regard to the present state of the Sooke waterworks contracts. He desired to look into the situation since it is some months since he was in the city last. Lately he has been in touch by wire with the water commissioner, and his endorsement of the last report favoring the award of the contract to the Pacific Lock Joint Company for the concrete pipe was made in that way, as the doctor has only this week removed the embargo on his travelling.

A special meeting of the city council has been called for to-morrow night, at which first place will be given to the waterworks issue. While the contracts for riveted steel pipe and the telephone line do not close till Monday, it is considered probable that the aldermen will desire Mr. Meredith's view on this subject, as criticism has been directed to the administration, in the last few months by certain of the aldermen.

There are other matters of business which require attention, and for which a place may be found in the session unless the whole evening is occupied with the subject of waterworks. The most imperative is the question, in which the special committee has prepared a report recommending alterations which it is considered will meet the emergency. Only about half the programme was covered on Monday, so there is no prospect of an early conclusion of the session.

CASES ADJUDGED.—Half a dozen drunks were dealt with in the police court to-day. There were several other cases down, but for one reason or another the parties were not ready to go on, and the cases were further adjourned. n22

JUBILEE HOSPITAL MEETING.—At the meeting of the board of directors of the Jubilee hospital to-morrow evening it is understood that progress will be made with the plans for the new hospital. Already a start has been made by the removal of one of the buildings so that the new group of structures may gradually take the place of those existing. n22

ANNIVERSARY OF QUIBERON BAY.—To-day is the 154th anniversary of the battle of Quiberon Bay, fought at Quiberon in 1759, when the English troops, under Hawke, won the victory that finished the war with France, prevented the French from relieving Montreal, and gave England, Canada and India. n22

REFERENDUM ON HOURS OF SALE.—It is understood that at the next meeting of the city council it will be reported that there cannot be a referendum on the hours of sale for licensed premises, unless it is merely an expression of opinion for the purpose of agitating for an alteration of the statute. This year, the legislature took away the power of municipalities to fix the hours by-law. The Voters' League has asked the council to establish a straight eight-hour day. n22

ALLEGES BIG LOSS.—Chung Git has complained to the police that he has been robbed of a large sum of money, which he places at something like sixteen hundred dollars. His story as he told it to the police is that two men broke into his home at 2009 Government street and scared his wife in the midnight hours, after which they proceeded to ransack two trunks, and made off with the money in gold and bills. Chung Git was called on to explain why he did not report the matter earlier than he did, and made the excuse that his business kept him out late at night. He and his wife differ in material respects in their stories; it is stated. The woman, although she claims to have seen the thieves for some time, is not able to give any description that would aid the police in their search for the accused men. Chung's memory of the exact number of the bills he had and their denomination is held to be rather remarkable. n22

FRUIT INSPECTION.—The committee appointed by the board of trade in connection with the inspection of fruit at Victoria, on the complaint of Simon Leiser, has not yet met, owing it is understood to the indisposition of one of the members. The subject is of great importance to the community because it is alleged that the regulations are more stringent here than in Vancouver, in consequence of which fruit taken back from Victoria to Seattle, it is said, is reshipped to Vancouver and admitted there. Hence Victoria people have to pay more for their fruit than Vancouver citizens, and it will probably be submitted that the fairest way would be to appoint an inspector at Seattle to handle all shipments for British Columbia. It is alleged to-day by a prominent shipper that the fanciers in the Wenatchee and Yakima valleys will not ship any longer to Victoria wholesale because of the difficulty in getting cargoes through, and in the final result the consumer suffers. A considerable quantity of American fruit has been turned back recently. n22

DANISH JASONS SEEK

FLEECE OF KNOWLEDGE

Two Copenhagen College Students in Victoria Touring World for Data

Two fair-haired, fresh-colored young Danes wandered into the city yesterday—Jasens searching for the fleece of knowledge. As soon as they arrived they got into touch with the provincial government, the board of trade and other organizations, in order to procure as much accurate information about British Columbia as these youths can provide.

Their names are Michael Gram and Carl Johan Hansen, and they hail from the Copenhagen Agricultural College. Their particular line is horticulture, and having left the walls of their alma mater behind they are now acquiring knowledge in the university of the world, where they will no doubt learn infinitely more than in all the text books that were ever written.

For two years since their graduation the two students have wandered over the face of the globe. The first stage was as vagabondage through Europe, following which they sought the new world to find out what the west can teach the east in the matter of fruit farming. In Canada they have been since April last, most of the time being spent in the fruit-growing districts of Niagara county and the Okanagan valley. Now they intend to spend some time exploring the fruit domains of Vancouver Island, from here they will proceed with the "Niagara" to Australia, then back to San Francisco to make a logg tour through the United States. After that whither the spirit prompts them. At the end they can no doubt go

THREE ALTERNATIVES OFFERED TO PLAN

Ald. McNeill Sees Simpler Financial Plan Than to Incur Loan of $1,500,000

In connection with the proposed loan in order to bring the budget system into effect in the civic administration, Alderman McNeill points out that the public cannot gather from the report at last Friday's meeting its full significance, or what the scheme will actually cost.

He points out that no reference was made to the loss which must inevitably result from the discount of debentures at the present time, when the city could not expect to receive more than 91 per cent net, on a loss of $135,000 on floating the issue, assuming that the figures will be the same as those which applied to the waterworks loan approved in September.

It was explained that to meet the interest and sinking fund the sum of $104,312 would be required, at 4 1/2 per cent, at the same time as the waterworks loan for a similar amount ($1,500,000), and it was claimed that the annual loss above outlined would be met by compensating advantages in the interest to the bank on the present annual loan by law.

Alderman McNeill does not take this view, holding that the change is an elaborate way of securing financial reform, and also adding to complications in the way of selling debentures when the market is overburdened already. He believes that there are three alternatives which would meet the situation more readily and by which the budget could be brought into effect with less disturbance of present conditions.

He thinks firstly that the last date for securing rebates could be advanced a month or two each year till the collection was ultimately fixed in the early spring, a scheme thoroughly discussed in council this year; secondly, that a special levy could be collected each year until the city had in hand half a million dollars to make a beginning with the new system; or, thirdly, that the practice of older countries could be followed and the rate collected twice a year, in March and October, a sixth rebate being given for taxes collected till March 31, and a tenth rebate for taxes collected to October 31.

Any one of these systems would, in his opinion, achieve the desired result without revolutionary changes under the present project. At any rate, he feels the subject should be thoroughly discussed by the public bodies of the city.

"Further," he says, "it is a most inopportune time to borrow money for this purpose, because we have next year to borrow a larger amount of money than ever to finish up the local improvement work to which we are pledged. In fact the local improvement undertakings of 1912 and the previous year are the cause of our present difficulties.

"This new system does not propose to help out those difficulties as it deals exclusively with general expenditure, and therefore cannot help our overdraft for local improvement work at the bank. I want," he continued, more accurate data on the effects of the change, which are too uncertain, and I want to know exactly what the saving will be. As for the claim that it will enable the work to be carried out earlier in the year, it is common knowledge that we do not start up new work till the season is well open in April."

After the fire that destroyed Barnum's museum, the proprietor consulted his friends as to the wisest course. He told them he had a fortune, and could easily retire from active business. Among his friends was Horace Greeley. "What shall I do?" asked Barnum. "If I were you," replied Greeley, "I would go fishing. I've been trying for thirty years to go fishing, and have never been able to do it."

GOVERNMENT LOOKS INTO B. C. E. RATES

Attorney-General So Notifies Public Committee; Real Estate Exchange Meets

That the railway department is conducting investigations into the matter of B. C. Electric Railway Company rates was the information conveyed in a communication from Attorney-General Bowser to the Real Estate Exchange last evening by the sub-committee appointed to confer with committees from other public bodies on the matter. This committee reported to the general meeting of the exchange that its application for an interview with the government upon the matter of British Columbia Electric rates had been met with this announcement from Mr. Bowser, who had requested that the interview with the committee be postponed until the government had completed its own investigation. No action was taken on the report.

The matter of advertising clocks as discussed at the city council, the other night met with strong opposition, and a letter will be sent to the council protesting against such an innovation. "Press boosting" was another form of advertising discussed at the meeting in a paper on the subject by George Howat. He maintained that honest press boosting was beneficial, but that harm was done by any other kind.

The recent Supreme Court decision that an agreement for sale could not be foreclosed until after the last payment was due was made a subject of discussion, and it was held that there was nothing in the decision to prevent the sheriff going in to collect delayed payments. The solicitor was asked to present a report upon the matter.

The valuation committee of the exchange was asked to give valuations on land on the Canadian Northern right of way which that railway wishes to put before the arbitrators on the expropriation proceedings.

Lectures as follows will be given at the season's meetings of the Real Estate Exchange: December 10 - "Victoria as a Seaport and the Effect of the Opening of the Panama Canal," by Capt. W. H. Logan; January 7, "Provincial Military Matters," by Lieut.-Colonel A. W. Currie; February 11, "History of Land Registry Act in B. C.," Discussion on the "Toren's System," by M. B. Jackson; March 11, "Early Subdivisions—Should Improvements be Taxed?" by A. G. Sargison; April 8, "Timber Resources and Development of the West Coast," by W. J. Sutton.

SAVE THE GREEN

THE ROAD TO THE RIGHT.

YOU'VE met at least one of those few good old souls, who are constantly getting the worst of it when shopping, who don't believe in advertising. A hundred disappointing and instructive experiences have failed to teach him their plain lesson.

When he bought his first watch he was beguiled into buying one without a known name or a trustworthy guarantee. That watch—a poor timekeeper—cost him dearly by reason of missed appointments and missed trains, and for frequent repairs. Yet he paid the price of a good watch.

It is the same story with regard to his underwear, his shoes, and his fountain pen.

This good old soul's case is not unique. Many of us, if the truth be confessed, resemble him; we allow ourselves to be sold merchandise with an unknown brand or trade mark instead of buying merchandise which is well known to us through the medium of advertising. In slang language, we get "stung" pretty often.

In most of these cases we have ourselves to blame, for "the road to the right" thing to buy has been made plain by advertising.

There is no good reason for passing by the known thing, soundly guaranteed, to buy a dubious article, which, quality for quality, cannot be cheaper than the known, branded article.

"It is better to be sure than sorry."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problem with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 803, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
